BIG SCOTT FIELD
AIRSHIP ADRIFT; RUDDER BROKENTC-3 Suffers Mishap to Its Steering Apparatus While Flying Over Caseyville, Ill.CARRIED ACROSS THE MISSISSIPPI RIVERCarries Crew of Seven Men
—Craft Is Inflated With Helium, Noninflammable Gas.

TC-3, a big Scott Field airship, suffered a mishap to its steering apparatus while over Caseyville, Ill., about 11 o'clock this afternoon and was forced to drift with the air currents like a free balloon.

It drifted over Granite City from Caseyville, which is east of East St. Louis, then crossed the Mississippi River, according to reports reaching Scott Field, and it was believed the wind might carry it to Lambert-St. Louis field, at Bridgeton, where a landing might be effected.

The craft was at an altitude of about 1000 feet over Granite City about 1:45 p. m.

Rudder Is Broken.

Apparently, Scott Field officers said, the hinges of the rudder had broken loose, allowing the movable portion of the rudder to swing uselessly on the control cables. The rudder is about 18 feet high and 14 feet long, consisting of a fabricated wooden frame. TC-3 is about 60 feet high, from top of gas bag to bottom of the open car, in which the crew and two motors are carried, and 195 feet long.

The crew on board today, out for a training flight, consisted of seven men, with First Lieutenant Douglas Johnson, an experienced pilot, in command. In the gas bag was the customary amount of helium, the noninflammable gas, about 180,000 cubic feet, and about 20,000 cubic feet of air in the balloons.

Officers said it might be necessary to allow some of the valuable helium to escape to effect a landing, the amount depending on conditions and the skill of the crew. Ordinarily a ground party of a considerable number of men is required to land a ship of this type, but landing could be accomplished without help, it is believed, or with a few men on early in the morning.

The flight had begun at Scott Field at 11:30 a. m. as a routine journey for training purposes.

Major Norman Peek, acting commandant of Scott Field, set out in an automobile to get in communication with the ship, as soon as reports of its trouble were received. TC-3 is not equipped with radio.

The loss of steering ability is an embarrassing but not a terrifying accident, since it does not mean that an airship will crash to ground as an airplane might under similar circumstances. The motors of TC-3 were shut off when its accident occurred, so that navigation of the craft was made this same sort of problem as the navigation of a balloon, in spite of the difference in design between an airship and a balloon.

TC-3 is of the non-rigid type, having no metal framework within the gas bag. It has been flown over St. Louis frequently.

EXAMINERS TAKE CHARGE OF BANK AT JAMESPORT, MO.Third Bank in Town to Be Closed in the Last Two Years—Capitalized at $80,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 16.—The Commercial Bank of Jamesport, Mo., was closed today by the Board of Directors and placed in the hands of the State Finance Department. It is the third bank to close in Jamesport in less than two years, and the eighth State bank to close in Missouri since first of this year.

The last statement of conditions submitted by the bank to the Finance Department on Dec. 31 last, shows capital stock $50,000; surplus, $14,500; loans $202,000; deposits, $297,426.44; bills payable $16,500; total resources $482,776.50.

State Bank Examiner R. E. Shelby was placed in charge of the bank. Finance Commissioner W. E. Zuerdt, who resigned today, effective April 25, and Deputy Finance Commissioner Todd, also are at Jamesport today.

The Bank of Jamesport closed on Aug. 22, 1923. The People's Exchange Bank of Jamesport closed on Jan. 29, last.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 16.—A bookmaker can be sued for money lost on the races, Supreme Court Justice Proskauer held yesterday in directing a verdict for Mrs. Ada G. Wells of New Rochelle, who sued Philip S. Abrahams, whom she first met at Belmont Park in 1921 and through whom she alleged she lost more than $15,000.

Justice Proskauer ordered a verdict for $7365.53. He refused, however, to include in the judgment money which, she said, she bet with Abrahams for friends.

CHECKS FOR 2 TRUCK LOADS
OF FURNITURE CAME BACKSo Did Check for Rent of Flat—However, Man Got Change From Dealer on Payment.

Somebody who said he was Sojus Nebel, called on Edward Nelson, who lives at 4024 A Labadie avenue, Monday, and asked if the flat below was for rent, and Nelson said it was. So Nebel gave him a check for $50, a month's rent, and departed.

Tuesday along came a van of furniture from the Menkus-Vanberg Furniture Co., 1702 Franklin avenue, but Nebel wasn't around so Nelson sent it back. Yesterday came another truck load of furniture from the Sam Goldberg Co., 1432 Franklin avenue, but Nebel was again absent so again Nelson sent it back. About that time Nebel's check for $50 came back. So Nelson informed the police.

The police found that Nebel had bought $152 worth of furniture from Menkus-Vanberg, tendering a $150 check, and asking for $2 change.

The Menkus-Vanbergs told him he could have the change when they cashed the check. And the police discovered Nebel had bought $227.50 worth of furniture from Sam Goldberg, given a $135 check, said he would pay the balance later, and asked for $7.50 change on his first payment. He got it. Both checks came back.

FRISCO SEEKS PERMISSION TO DROP SUBURBAN TRAINSApplies to Discontinue Locals Between St. Louis and Valley Park and Pacific.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 16.—Declaring that the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co. had been operating its suburban trains between St. Louis and nearby towns at a loss, due to competition of automobiles and motor buses, attorneys for the railway company today filed an application with the State Public Service Commission for authority to discontinue the trains between St. Louis and Valley Park and Pacific.

The application stated that the annual expense of operating these suburban trains was $180,000 and that the revenues had been approximately $150,000.

Notices are being sent out by the commission to the towns affected by the proposed abandonment of service. The commission announced no action would be taken until representatives of communities affected had been given an opportunity to be heard.

The suburban trains the railway company seeks to abandon are Numbers 76, 77, 80, 82, 83, 85 and 79 between St. Louis and Valley Park, and trains Numbers 71 and 75 between St. Louis and Pacific.

LIQUOR AFTER 8 DRY YEARS

By the Associated Press.

REGINA, Sask., April 16.—Liquor is being sold today in stores in Saskatchewan, controlled by the provincial Government, under a new liquor law which went into effect yesterday, after a dry period of more than eight years.

Open bars in the province were closed in 1915. A Government sale system then organized was abolished a year later. The new act put a ban on "near beer" and several bars which had been operating in Regina have closed.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM
ADMITS POISONING
THREE CHILDRENGave Daughter and Two Sons Arsenic in Bread Indiana Woman Says in Confession.WANTED TO "JOIN HUSBAND IN HEAVEN"Asserts That She Took a Similar Dose Each Time
She Administered Poison
but Always Recovered.

By the Associated Press.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 16.—Calm and unmoved, Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 49 years old, confessed that she gave poison to three of the five members of her family whose mysterious deaths within six years led to an investigation, resulting in a murder charge against her.

The victims were her children, Isabelle, 18; Charles, 19; and Walter, 13, and she said she killed because she loved them best. She believed she was going to die, she said, and wanted to take them with her to join their father, who died in 1918.

For the same reason she gave poison to David Jr., the last son, now in a critical condition in a Chicago hospital. She denied that she had poisoned her husband, the first to die, or Harry, another son, in whose exhumed body coroners' chemists found arsenic. She spared Mae, surviving daughter, because she disliked her, she said.

Arsenic in Bread and Butter.

According to her confession last night, each time she administered the arsenic in bread and butter she took a similar dose herself, and after the death of Walter she added a teaspoonful of iodine, but always recovered.

The desire to "join in heaven" her husband and take with her her best-loved child, had prompted her to administer the death poison to Isabelle, the first victim, who died Dec. 31, 1920.

The confession of the woman, who had remained unshaken under the questioning in Chicago of State's Attorney Crowe and Assistant State's Attorney Shumaker, was obtained by Sheriff Benjamin H. Strong and Miss Maureen McKernan, Chicago newspaper reporter.

During yesterday, after she had recovered from a state of coma into which she lapsed early Tuesday, Mrs. Cunningham talked to Miss McKernan and admitted that she might have placed some arsenic in the food of David by mistake, but was told in her denial that she had poisoned intentionally all five members of her family.

Tells Story to Sheriff.

She permitted the reporter to apply cold compresses to her head and loosen her clothing, appearing more interested in changing her best black silk dress for an apron than in her subsequent recital of the deaths.

Suddenly she asked that her daughter Mae be sent for and that she be removed from her cell because of the presence there of several women prisoners. Disregarding the girl's frantic screams to remain silent, she detailed her story first to Sheriff Strong and later to an official court reporter.

The daughter refused to remain and listen to the account of the deaths of her brothers and was taken away. She also declined an offer to remain in the jail near her mother during the night and went to an adjoining hotel.

Only when she was asked to sign the transcribed confession at 2:45 a. m. today did Mrs. Cunningham betray any emotion. Then she broke down and sobbed.

As much poison as lay on the end of a table knife was spread on bread and covered with butter and fed to the girl who died Dec. 31, 1920. The mother took a similar dose without fatal effects.

The next to die was Harry, 21, Oct. 13, 1921. He had suffered from an inherited disease, she said. She denied poisoning him and maintained her denial when told that poison sufficient to have caused his death had been found in his exhumed body.

Poisons Another Child.

Charles, 19, who died Sept. 21, 1922, also suffered from the inherited ailment, according to a physician's examination during an illness before the mother poisoned him, the confession said. Another decision to join her husband and children prompted administration of the poison to him in bread and butter. Again she took a dose, but recovered.

The last child to die was Walter, 13, Sept. 26, 1923. His body was exhumed with that of Harry last Monday when in the formal murder charge filed against her yesterday.

IGOE'S DECISION
SPURS DEMOCRATS
IN CONTEST MOVESpecial Legal Committee, Headed by Former Judge Priest, Mapping Out the Procedure.VIGOROUS DEFENSE INDICATED BY MILLERChairman Becker Says Republicans Are Interested in Possible Charges of Fraud.

Democrats today began preparations for putting into effect the decision of William L. Igoe late yesterday to contest the election of Mayor-elect Victor J. Miller.

A special legal committee, headed by former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, is mapping out the procedure and will place the case before the Circuit Court. The law allows the Democrats until May 4 to complete the actual filing of the contest.

The contest will be based solely upon an attack on the opinion of former Attorney-General Jesse Barrett, who held that the blanket ballot, in use since 1922, could not be scratched or interfered except where a voter desired to cast his ballot for one whose name did not appear on the printed form.

The Election Board, following this ruling, instructed election officials that ballots with a cross placed in the circle above the Republican ticket, with Miller's name scratched and Igoe's written in, should be counted as a vote for Miller. Conversely a Democratic ticket with a cross in the party circle, Igoe scratched and Miller's name written in, was counted as a vote for Igoe.

Further Allegation.

It will also be alleged that ballots on which vertical lines were drawn through the Socialist and Republican tickets should properly have been counted for Igoe and the remainder of the Democratic ticket.

The allegation will be made that, in such instances, the voter clearly intended to vote for Igoe, as where his name was written in and Miller scratched, and that the intention of the voter is clearly superior to any technical error he made in expressing his vote.

Circuit Judge Frey evidently shared the same view that a night's confinement in the city jail would impress on Schallert that a jury summons may not be ignored. So when Schallert, who conducts an automobile repairing shop, lives at 1832 Hogan street, was taken before the judge yesterday to explain why he ignored the summons last Monday, the Court announced the alternative of fine or jail. First it was to be five days, but after an hour's delay in making out the commitment papers, the Court reduced the sentence to 24 hours.

That was noon yesterday, after which the absent juror telephoned his wife that he would not be at home for the night, as he was "serving on a jury." Today, he sat in a cell at the city jail and related the circumstances of his failure to obey the summons.

"You see, I was in the army three years, so what was a night in jail?" Schallert, who is 20 years old and is a veteran of the World War, said. "But about this summons, I forgot about it. I got the first summons Feb. 24 and was excused to April 13, last Monday, figured if they wanted me to serve they would send out another notice."

"Then my wife has been ill, and three months ago she was operated on. That cost $200, and since I've had to pay $2 every other day for a doctor's visit. Next week she must be operated on again. It's kept me digging and worried and I forgot about the notice. Monday and Tuesday somebody called on the telephone, when I was out and asked for me, but I wouldn't give their name. Then yesterday, they called again and said it was the Sheriff's office and for me to come to court or they would come after me. I came and here I am in jail."

Length of Contest.

Opinions vary as to the time which will be consumed by the contest. Democrats hope that it can be determined inside of six months, but if Republicans counter with charges of fraud, as they undoubtedly will, the court will have to appoint a commissioner to take such evidence as the matter may be prolonged considerably.

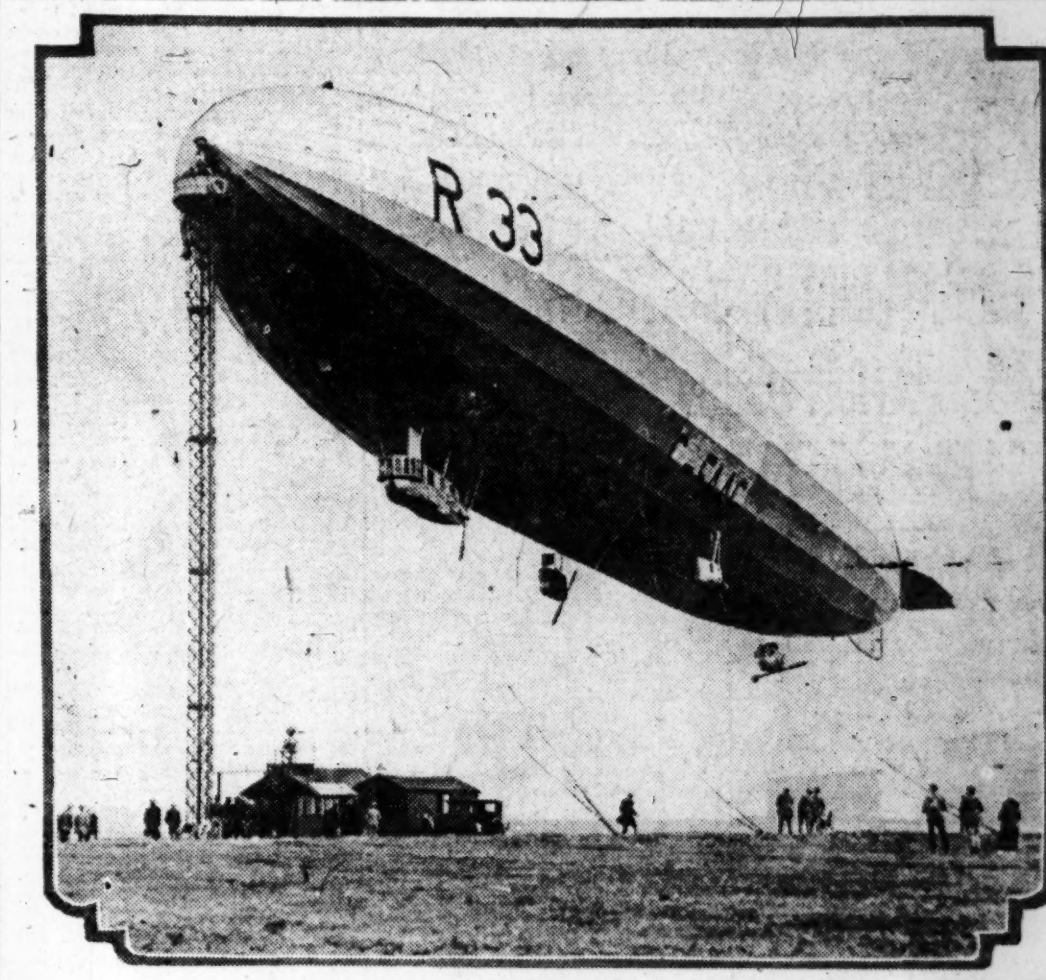

George Elkel, chairman of the Election Board, estimated today that it would take at least four months to count the ballots, with a cost to the city of from $30,000 to $40,000. Estimates as to the cost to the two parties vary from $10,000 upwards.

The processes of an election contest are highly technical and no attorney connected with either party would outline for quotation the actual steps through which the matter will go. However, it may be generally stated that the action

JUROR SERVING 24
HOURS IN CITY JAILAugust Schallert, Who Forgot Summons, Refused to Pay
$6.50 Fine.

August Schallert figured it out this way: He could pay the $6.50 fine and go to jail 24 hours. If he went to jail he would have to pay his helper 75 cents an hour for the time he served, which would amount to about the same as the fine. Still it would give him time to "think it over."

Circuit Judge Frey evidently shared the same view that a night's confinement in the city jail would impress on Schallert that a jury summons may not be ignored. So when Schallert, who conducts an automobile repairing shop, lives at 1832 Hogan street, was taken before the judge yesterday to explain why he ignored the summons last Monday, the Court announced the alternative of fine or jail. HITCH IN PLANS FOR 75-CENT HAIRCUTSMaster Barbers and Union Organization Not Yet Agreed on Procedure.

The organization which barbers speedily set about perfecting two weeks ago upon advice of J. C. Shanessy of Indianapolis, president of the international union, to increase the price of haircuts and shaves, today does not appear as perfect as it might be.

An executive committee of union barbers, organized within 20 minutes after hearing Shanessy's advice, has taken the stand after one joint meeting that it cannot deal with local master barbers until they obtain a charter from the National Master Barbers' Association. The union employers' president, Golden Colyer, said today that his organization will follow the action of the local barbers' union, and not the master barbers.

The executive committee of the local Master Barbers' Association will recommend to a mass meeting of master barbers Tuesday night at the American Annex that the members do not meet jointly with members of the union and the union bosses. It also voted to recommend a 75-cent haircut, but to let the price of shaves remain at 25 cents.

Dealings with the other organizations, by that decision, are to be through joint Executive Committee meetings only, since the master barbers are comparatively few in number and might be out-voted. Master barbers have declared the union is dominated by the "one chair barber." This element is believed to be reluctant to innovate higher prices, and, on the other hand, it is said that employed journeymen favor the 35-cent shave, a raise which the master barbers have decided would be injudicious.

A meeting of the union is to be held Monday night, but Fred Heller, secretary, said it would wait upon the decision of the master barbers meeting before taking any action upon prices. Further negotiations between the union and the master barbers, he said, would be by conferences of the executive committees, as was voted by the master barbers' committee. A mass meeting of all three organizations had been scheduled for April 26.

DANCING GIRL LEFT
$32,000 BY DEFENDERBombay Court Supports Deathbed Will of Merchant Favoring Mumtaz Begum.

By the Associated Press.

BOMBAY, April 16.—Mumtaz Begum, the former dancing girl favorite of the Maharajah of Indore, receives a lakh (100,000 rupees or $20,000) from the estate of the merchant, Abdul Kadir Baula, under a ruling handed down by the high court.

Baula was mortally wounded in the light on Malabar Hill last January when a gang attempted to seize the girl, allegedly for the purpose of returning her to the royal household, from which she fled.

The high court found in favor of the will which Baula made on his hospital death-bed, and which his relatives had contested on the ground that he was probably not then in a fit state to dispose of his property.

The decision, after confirming Mumtaz Begum's share, entitles Baula's mother to the residue of the estate, or about 16 lakhs of rupees.

The rupee is normally worth a little over 22 cents.

MILLER'S SLATE FOR JOBS RECALLS GRIMM'S CHARGES

Robert B. Brooks an Officer of Contractors' Body Which, Candidate Said, Was Promised a Place.

ALDERMAN BROD DUE TO GET POST

Twenty-Eighth Ward Representative Scheduled for Position of Director of Public Safety.

The fact that Robert B. Brooks, vice president of the Municipal Contractors' Association, is slated for appointment as Director of Streets and Sewers by Mayor-elect Grimm recalls the charges made by former Circuit Judge Grimm, during the primary, that Miller had promised the association a place on the Board of Public Safety.

Grimm, who was an opponent of Miller, said he understood that Miller had promised to name Brooks as president of the Board of Public Safety, but, as told by the Post-Dispatch yesterday, Brooks is slated to have the streets and sewers job.

Prior to Grimm's charge that Miller was to allow the Municipal Contractors' Association to be represented on the Board of Public Safety, Miller and Louis P. Aloe, another contender for the nomination, had appeared in a closed meeting of the organization.

The association is composed of 40 contracting firms, most of them leaders on alley, street and sewer construction. At that meeting Miller, in answer to questions propounded to him, declared he believed city contracts should be let where possible to private contractors.

Miller was quoted as saying at that time that a recommendation from the body as to representation of contractors on the Board of Public Safety would have his "earnest consideration."

Brooks is a son of Mrs. Louis J. Brooks, who directed the women's division of Miller's campaign in the primary, as well as for the election. He is chief engineer for the Moreno-Burkham Construction Co., and resides at 6048 Cabanne place. He would not comment today on the presence of his name on the Miller slate, saying that he had had no notification of the fact that he was to be appointed.

Brooks' Experience. The Moreno-Burkham Construction Co. has done extensive work on road and street contracts, and Brooks, as chief engineer of the company, has had wide experience in this type of work.

The Director of Streets and Sewers gets a salary of $5000. He is charged principally with the maintenance of streets and sewers, and has the appointment of a superintendent of sewers, as well as a commissioner of streets. In busy times he has 1000 or more employees under him. He is not concerned with construction of streets and sewers, which is under supervision of the board.

Resides his duties in maintenance of streets and sewers, the director also has charge of garbage collection and disposal and with the management of harbor and wharves. In the past he has had charge of traffic, superintending the placing of signals, signs and other materials for regulating traffic. The present Director of Streets and Sewers is Clinton H. Flisk, a Kiel appointee.

Brod Also on Slate. Alderman John H. Brod Jr. of the Twenty-eighth Ward, who is slated for appointment by Miller as Director of Public Safety, is 47 years old and resides at 1321 Temple place. He is chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen and by virtue of that fact is chairman of the Traffic Council. He is president of the J. H. Brod Granite Co., which has a plant at Avondale avenue and the Terminal tracks, and quarries in Iron County. He is also president of the Missouri Red Granite Co. Both companies specialize in granite for monuments and similar fine uses.

Brod has had building experience under his father, John H. Brod, who before retirement was prominent in construction work. The Alderman was educated in the public schools and the Missouri College of Law and is a member of the bar, although he does not practice law.

Director's Duties. The Director of Public Safety is a member of the Board of Public Safety and has an annual salary of $5000. He is charged with the inspection of buildings, boilers and elevators and is head of the Fire Department. He is also in charge of inspection of weights and measures and of the smoke regulation department.

PROGRAM FOR THE INAUGURATION OF MILLER AS MAYOR

Mayor Kiel Issues Proclamation Convening Board of Aldermen for Ceremonies Next Tuesday.

Mayor Kiel today issued a proclamation convening the Board of Aldermen for the inauguration of the new Mayor, Comptroller, and the 14 members of the Board who are to take office Tuesday. At the same time Chairman Neumann of the special inaugural committee of the Board made public the committee's plans for the occasion.

There will be two ceremonies, the first beginning at 11 a. m. in the Board of Aldermen chambers and the second, open to the public, in the rotunda of the City Hall.

Exercises in House Chamber. The ceremony in the chambers will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Robert H. Atchison, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, who was selected for this duty by Mayor-elect Miller. Then the 14 new Aldermen will be called and the oath will be administered by the City Register.

The rules of the old session will be temporarily adopted and the clerk, assistant clerk and sergeant-at-arms will be elected.

With the Board thus organized Mayor-elect Miller and Comptroller-elect Nolte will be notified by a special committee that the Board is ready to proceed and appearing before the Board will take their oaths of office.

In the meantime a band will give a concert in the rotunda where there will be seats for 500 persons and standing room for more. When the inaugural party appears, the band will play "Hail to the Chief."

Program in City Hall Rotunda. President Neun of the Board of Aldermen will be master of ceremonies at the program in the rotunda. The Rev. Dr. Atchison will deliver an invocation and the 16 new officials will take their oaths of office once more.

Mayor Kiel will then deliver his farewell address, concluding it by introducing his successor, who will then deliver his inaugural speech. At the close of the ceremony the Board of Aldermen will meet in regular session and Miller will actually take over his new office. Night is already in-office, having been re-elected in April.

CAREFUL DRIVER IS FREED FOR HOLDING UP TRAFFIC. He Contended Delay at Street Intersection Was to Permit Pedestrians to Pass.

Declaring that it was better to block traffic for a moment than to dash through the crowded downtown streets, after the fashion of most service car drivers, Provisional Judge Gayer, in the Court of Criminal Correction, today discharged Louis Kalkerman, service car driver of 423 Broadway, who was arrested on March 20 for impeding the progress of other machines at Sixth street and Washington avenue.

Kalkerman was fined $10 and costs on the charge in Police Court on April 1 and appeared today on appeal. Traffic Officer Hayeroff, who arrested the man, said he lingered longer than necessary to let his fares at the corner and blocked traffic all the way to Broadway. Kalkerman, however, contended he stopped to let pedestrians get out of his path and then waited a moment to allow two women passengers to get seated in the car before starting.

ers is regarded as arbitrary and it is possible the Miller administration may see fit to lodge it with the Director of Public Safety in view of Brod's experience in safety work as head of the Traffic Council and a member of the executive committee of the St. Louis Safety Council.

POLICE IN GRAFT CASE PICTURED TO JURY AS TRAITORS

Panel Told Three Defendants, on Trial Lacked Courage of Judas After Betraying Superiors.

'COMPANY A VICTIM OF A DELIBERATE DRIVE'

Declares Larger Banks Were Supported by Commissioner in Raid to Get Institution's Accounts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—The police department of Cincinnati is composed of honest men and the Government is asking you to do your duty to weed out of that department the dishonest men who disgraced its name. When Judas Iscariot betrays the best man that ever lived, he had enough courage to go out and hang himself for it. These men who betrayed their superiors did not have even the courage of Judas.

This statement was made in the closing address of Assistant District Attorney A. Lee Beatty to the jury in Federal Court here today.

Beatty urged the jury to render a verdict of guilty against Night Detectives James A. Hayes, Fred Bulderick and Robert Kinney, charged by the Government with conspiring to violate the national prohibition act.

"Your minds probably already are made up," said Beatty to the jury. "The Government presented as conclusive a case against these three defendants as could have been presented. You are only concerned about the three defendants. We do not want a verdict unless you are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that they are guilty."

Tribute to Superior Officer. High tribute was paid to Lieut. John Seeborn by Beatty. Each of the three defendants at one time had been in Seeborn's "flying squad." Seeborn went through this investigation unscathed, Beatty said.

"It is a credit to the Cincinnati Police Department. I wish that every member of that department were a Seeborn."

"Think of that, men. Twelve men, members of his squad, betrayed him. There never was a baser traitor than they. He was a better man than Benedict Arnold." He trusted them and they failed him.

Beatty then reviewed the indictment against the three defendants by counts. He enumerated the charges of possessing, selling and manufacturing liquor and maintaining a nuisance against them.

"In proving a conspiracy we are not required to show a written agreement," said Beatty. "When men go together to violate the law they never leave written evidence—they do not need it. They are talking to each other, they are writing it, from the testimony that we have presented, we have proved that they are guilty. You can return a verdict."

Beatty then recited that members of a conspiracy may enter that conspiracy at different times. He also said that the testimony of the conspiracy may not know what the other member is doing and still be guilty of the crime.

"But," said Beatty, "if by some over act the conspiracy is furthered the Government's case is made. I have said that graft was king. You gentlemen have it in your power to dethrone the king and put the law in its place. You can stamp out forever this condition which existed. You can look back and say: 'I did my duty by eradicating this vicious system and making this city a better place to which to live.'"

Maximum Penalty Two Years. If the three night detectives are found guilty by the jury they are subject to a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each of the four counts of indictment. The jury must decide whether the three officers are innocent or individually guilty of conspiracy.

Judge Hickenlooper fixes the penalty at his discretion in event of guilt, although the minimum he can fix under a conspiracy indictment is one year and one day in a Federal penitentiary. Of more than 200 witnesses summoned by the Government, United States District Judge James T. Blair, former Circuit Judge Fred L. Engler, Samuel Rosenfeld and Jesse McDonald, and Wayne Ely, former Assistant United States District Attorney, probably will select the attorneys to represent Igoe.

Igoe's Decision Spurs Democrats in Contest

will begin with the serving of the Democratic contest petition on Miller prior to May 4 and its immediate filing in the Circuit Court.

Republicans will then be given time to answer this petition and set up any counter charges. This will bring the case to issue. If the matter more goes forward on the Democratic request for a recount, it may proceed at once without further action, but if the Republicans charge fraud, the appointment of a Commissioner is likely to be made in order that evidence in support of this charge may be taken.

Assignment of Case. The case will be assigned to an equity division of the Circuit Court which means that it will go before either Judge Falkenhainer (Rep.) or Judge Miller (Dem.).

If the Court orders a recount, appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court to overrule the action of the lower court or sustain it. Of the seven members of the Supreme Court five are Democrats—Judges W. W. Graves, R. F. Walker, J. T. White, W. T. Ragland and A. M. Woodson—and two Republicans—Judges Frank E. Atwood and David H. Blair. Judge Graves is Chief Justice.

If an order for a recount is issued the Election Board will provide eight tables at which two Democrats and two Republicans will officiate with a stenographer taking a description of the ballots and their certification to the Court. This description will point out the manner in which each ballot is marked, but they will be grouped in "straight" Republican, "straight" Democratic, those with Miller scratched and Igoe written in, those with Igoe scratched and Miller written in.

Two watchers, one Republican and one Democratic, usually attorneys, will watch the progress of the recount. An expensive feature of contest for each party will be the transcripts describing the ballots.

The result of the recount—a description of the ballots—will then be certified to the court, together with what evidence may be taken by any commissioner appointed, and the court will take the evidence and make its decision.

It may decide that the intent of the voter should be paramount to the technical marking of the ballot and overrule the Barrett opinion. If this ruling is made and the official of the election board counted for Miller, whose name was written in, are counted to change the result, the court will order Igoe seated as Mayor.

To Supreme Court. In either event the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court for determination. In such matters the court usually advances the case and gives it immediate consideration. The Supreme Court's decision, will of course, be final. There are many technical points in the case, and the court may be employed to expedite or delay the matter, depending upon the attitude of the parties.

It is likely Henry Kortjohn Jr., a member of the Police Board, will be the R-33 attorney by the time the case is argued before the public. He was attorney for Charles H. Daves of the St. Louis Court of Appeals when Daves' election in 1922 was contested by Davis Higgs. Higgs later dropped the case, although it had reached the May of 1924 without having been determined.

The Democratic legal committee composed of former Federal Judge Priest, former Missouri Supreme Court Judge James T. Blair, former Circuit Judge Fred L. Engler, Samuel Rosenfeld and Jesse McDonald, and Wayne Ely, former Assistant United States District Attorney, probably will select the attorneys to represent Igoe.

Two Such Contests in Past. Only two contests of the election of a Mayor of St. Louis have been instituted in the past, politicians recalled. In 1885 W. L. Ewing contested the election of David R. Francis, later Ambassador to Russia, but it was dismissed by the Supreme Court. Former Circuit Judge John A. Talty, Republican, contested the election of Rolla Wells, Democrat, in 1905, but it was also dismissed.

The filing of a contest will not prevent the inauguration of Miller as Mayor next Tuesday nor his appointments from taking office. Lawyers expressed the opinion that his official acts would be valid, if he is unelected later, for the interim in which he served because he would be de facto Mayor at least; that is, the official returns so show him to be and he has been given a certificate of election by the Election Board and the Judges of the Circuit Court.

IGOE'S STATEMENT ON DECISION TO CONTEST ELECTION OF MILLER

WILLIAM L. IGOE'S announcement of his decision to contest the election of Victor J. Miller as Mayor follows:

"Out of a sense of duty, I have consented to contest the election of Victor J. Miller. The contest is justified, I feel, as a means of determining whether or not voters shall be deprived of the right of suffrage, either by an arbitrary provision of the law itself, or by the dictum of an election official as to what it permits or prohibits. The right of the people to have their lawful ballots counted for the candidates of their preference is paramount to personal wishes and should be vindicated. I have not allowed my own judgment or my personal interests to dictate my decision in this matter. I have acted after a careful examination of the law and the facts by some of the most distinguished and able lawyers of St. Louis. I initiate this contest to have a determination of the highest court of the State as to the meaning of the law, and to the right of voters to have their ballots properly recorded for the candidates of their choice without limitation of that right by any narrow technical construction on the part of administrative officials."

shifts of the winds. Clouds assembled on the shore to watch the struggle and the harbor lifeboats put out to give any aid within their power.

Slowly as the engines began to turn, the ship took on a even keel and within three hours after her headlong flight began the worst danger had passed, although there always was the possibility of a breakdown of the motors which might prove disastrous.

Wireless Appeals for Aid. Immediately after the accident every wireless station in the east of England, as well as in the continental countries bordering on the North Sea, were informed of the airship's plight. Vessels in the North Sea were directed to keep a lookout for the craft.

The R-33 is commanded by its first officer, Flight Lieutenant R. S. Booth, and 20 men of the regular crew of 28 were aboard. It had been flying on the R-33 make a test flight today and for this reason there were more men of the crew on her than would have been the case otherwise.

The British Air Ministry has announced receipt of a message from the R-33 stating she was approximately 75 miles northwest of Amsterdam and still maintaining her northerly course.

At 4:30 o'clock the Air Ministry announced receipt of a message from the R-33 stating she was approximately 75 miles northwest of Amsterdam and still maintaining her northerly course.

It was officially stated that no relatives of members of the crew had been notified. This was in denial of a report in circulation that when the R-33 broke away relatives of some of her crew were on the airship and had been carried off with her. It was also reported that Corporal Potter, a survivor of the R-33 disaster, was on the R-33.

In breaking away from her must, the airship's nose was badly ripped. The gale, one of the heaviest in recent months, was blowing full blast when the accident occurred.

The R-33 is fully equipped with wireless and is expected to be able to keep in touch with shore stations. Her first trial flight after being reconditioned was made two days ago, when the motors and all the gear are reported to have worked perfectly. She had been in her shed at Cardington for four years, and after nearly two years of rebuilding is considered by experts a virtually new machine.

Rescue Machinery in Motion. The dirigible is 640 feet long, with a width of 72 feet. Her cruising speed is 45 miles an hour under ordinary conditions. She is, in the main, a copy of the German L-33, which was shot down by British anti-aircraft forces in Essex in 1916. She has 18 gas bags and four motors.

Then news of the accident was received in London, all rescue machinery of rescue was put into motion. Ships plying the North Sea were quickly notified by wireless and urgent messages were sent to coastal cities on the Continent in the vicinity where she might drift.

OBSTACLES ARISE FOR PAINLEVE IN FORMING CABINET

Fixes No Time When He Will Give Final Answer to Doumergue—Caillaux Opposes Capital Levy.

PESSIMISM AMONG BRIAND'S FRIENDS

Caillaux's Acceptance of Finance Post Cause of Varied Emotions in the French Political World.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 16.—The Painleve-Caillaux-Briand ministerial combination which popped to the surface suddenly yesterday to the exclusion of the proposed Painleve-Herriot Cabinet, is having difficulty.

Declarations by the newspapers supporting Caillaux in his statement that he will throw overboard all projects for a capital levy if he becomes Minister of Finance under Painleve, have calmed the ardor of his best friends among the Socialist and radical parties.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon Painleve reported progress to President Doumergue but fixed no time when he would give his final answer to the executive on the success or failure of his efforts to organize a ministry.

Feeling of Pessimism Develops. Friends of Briand also show little enthusiasm over a combination in which their leader would, they think, play third role, and there was visible discouragement in the ranks of the Socialist-Radical coalition.

It was declared in the lobbies of the Chamber of Deputies that Briand and Caillaux were far from being agreed on the essentials of a ministerial program, while Painleve had declared he would abandon his efforts to form a ministry if he could not have the co-operation of both Caillaux and Briand.

All these circumstances combined to develop a feeling of pessimism regarding the proposed combination.

Caillaux began delving into the financial situation this morning, as though it were settled that he would have the job of straightening out the kinks in the French treasury. He saw M. Robineau, expert of the Ministry of Finance.

He conferred with Robineau and Finance Minister de Monzie before luncheon, and then talked over the financial phases of the Government's tasks with Robineau and Painleve.

Finance Measure Passed. A bill authorizing the Bank of France to raise the legal limit of circulation from 41,000,000,000 to 45,000,000,000 francs and advances to the state to 25,000,000,000 francs was passed by the Chamber after slight modifications by a vote of 325 to 29. The Senate met in special session last night and also ratified the bill, 193 to 5.

Caillaux yesterday agreed to accept the post of Finance Minister. His prospective return to power, after being regarded as politically dead, caused varied emotions in the French political world, accustomed as it is to spectacular coups.

Caillaux's Return. The idea of Caillaux's return, however, does not appear to be repugnant to the general public, the feeling against him, which at one time was bitter, has died down and many who do not agree with his policies have confidence in his reputation as a financier of exceptional ability.

Caillaux has gone on record as being opposed to the principle of a capital levy, which he has resigned following the Calmette tragedy of March 16, 1914, caused a commotion in parliamentary lobbies. The Simon-pure Radicals looked glum and the Socialists were inclined to give their support to so determined an opponent of the capital levy and other economic measures dear to their heart.

TRUCK LOADED WITH LIQUOR GOES INTO DITCH; $1000 FINES

John Bozzarel and Joe Bonifone, both of Collinsville, set out for Nason yesterday in Bozzarel's truck loaded with 100 gallons of wine and 30 gallons of whiskey. Today each was fined $1000 and costs, totaling $1100, by Circuit Judge Bernreuter, after they had been indicted this morning for transportation and possession of liquor by a grand jury.

The attention of authorities was called to the truck which had slipped into a ditch eight miles east of Nashville and the arrests followed.

The boys said the poodle had jumped out of the car and played with them, and then along came a man who picked up the poodle and walked off with him.

SELECTION OF JURY BEGUN IN TRIAL OF SENATOR WHEELER

More Than Half of 120 on Venire at Great Falls, Mont., Seek to Evade Serving in Case.

By the Associated Press.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 16.—The trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler on an indictment charging that he accepted a fee for prosecuting oil lease applications before the Department of the Interior, after being elected to the Senate, started here today before Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich of Idaho.

Calling of the roll of the special venire of 120 jurymen was begun at once. There was no room in the courtroom for spectators because the venire occupied practically the entire space.

More than half of the veniremen sought to evade service when asked by Judge Dietrich if they wished to be released. Five were excused on technical grounds. Most of the venire was drawn from Northern and Eastern Montana, where crops are now being planted. Nearly half of those who offered excuses were released by Judge Dietrich.

Many pleaded that absence from their farms at this time would disrupt their seeding and planting programs. Others declared there was illness in their homes.

Wheeler, who has announced that he will testify, has as his attorney, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, S. C. Ford, W. F. O'Leary and James H. Baldwin. Wheeler's law partner, John L. Slattery, United States District Attorney, and R. P. Stewart, special assistant Attorney-General, will prosecute the case.

Wheeler is accused of accepting a fee of $4000 from Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, for prosecuting oil lease applications before the Department of the Interior after being elected to the Senate. The defendant has declared it was "palpably a frame-up" by the then Attorney-General, Harry M. Daugherty. Wheeler at that time was the prosecutor of the Daugherty Investigating Committee. The Senate later conducted an independent investigation into the circumstances surrounding the returning of the indictment and "wholly exonerated" him.

Edgar S. Booth, former counsel of the Interior Department; Campbell, oil operator; William Spry, former land commissioner in the Interior Department; L. C. Stevenson, Montana oil operator, and G. F. Feeley, a Washington attorney, are among the principals in the case, which was investigated by the grand jury, are here to testify.

CE CAMPAIGN LS TO STRIKE IN GAMBLERS

Town Has Tightened but the Uncertainty n't Last Long, One maker Says.

IONS FOR CASH OR PRIZES ILLEGAL

POLICE CAMPAIGN FAILS TO STRIKE FEAR IN GAMBLERS

"The Town Has Tightened Up," but the Uncertainty Won't Last Long, One Bookmaker Says.

COUPONS FOR CASH OR PRIZES ILLEGAL

Senti Makes Ruling for Business Men's Association—Popularity Contest Held to Be Permissible.

The announced police campaign against all forms of public gambling, particularly aimed at racing handbooks, raffles, lotteries, card and dice games, appears to have manifested itself in its first week's application, in an inverse order of results.

In the parlance of the sportively inclined, "the town has tightened up," but Chief Gerk's order that "gambling is gambling, whether the proceeds go to professional gamblers or to charity," has failed to strike terror in the hearts, at least, of the professionals.

As a well-known St. Louis bookmaker expressed it to a Post-Dispatch reporter today, the declaration of the new board is analogous to similar attempts at change and reformation, attempted by every new board of police commissioners.

"Won't Last Long." "Each new board believes that the public wants something of a change," this bookmaker said. "Consequently it announces a lot of new policies, puts in new chiefs and shifts captains and then tries to settle down. That's the way we regard the present situation. Some of us are shut down until things get quiet. Of course, right now there is a good deal of uncertainty, but we believe it won't last long."

This "uncertainty" exists doubtlessly to a greater degree among the operators of so-called soft drink saloons. In addition to the hazards by the changes in Police Board personnel, with possible raids, police visit to be adopted, there are other causes of concern. These grow chiefly out of the majority campaign, both primary and election.

It is known many of these operators permitted the establishment to manifest itself in lavish display of campaign banners for a particular candidate to the exclusion of a rival. The losers are expecting reprisals. Thus a Seventh boulevard saloon proprietor, in the closing days of the late primary, became exceptionally energetic in the removal of the campaign of Victor Miller. Of a sudden the place was raided and a very large quantity of liquors seized. The place was closed. The proprietor immediately blamed the raid on the known bad feeling between President Brockman of the Police Board and Miller. A week later the present board was confirmed in appointment. The place reopened.

Miller's Relationship. Mayor-elect Miller's relationship with the new board, of which he will be an ex-officio member, is the light of his "law enforcement" campaign, in a matter of further concern to the fraternity engaged in the illicit operations mentioned. Whether he can or will make their operations more numerous by an active attentiveness to the board's conduct, is a matter of conjecture with them. The informant quoted was of the opinion the new Mayor would be too busy with the details of the municipal building program to give much personal time to police work.

As a result of the first drive on charity raffles, as related in the newspapers the past several days, promoters of these entertainments are temporarily, at least, "closed down." A promoter of "stag" calypso, in which the dress or "kick" of the dancing girls sometimes brings police intervention, said yesterday he had suffered six cancellations, within the week, for performances scheduled in the next few weeks.

Senti Makes Ruling. The awarding of cash or other prizes by business and improvement associations through coupons issued to customers with purchases, a lottery and is illegal, according to Councilor Senti held today in opinion submitted to the Thirty-ninth Street Business Men's Association in connection with a drawing which more than $2000 in cash was to be distributed on April 16.

According to the plan, merchants participating in the organization were to have a coupon with each 25-cent purchase, each coupon carrying two stubs which were to be delivered with the customer's name and the drawing at a picnic given by the association. The first prizes were to be certificates for $1000, $100, $75, $50 and $25. In addition there were to be 25 certificates of $10 denomination, 100 of $5.00, and 100 of $2.50. Besides cash prizes, two Shetland ponies were to be given to children drawing lucky numbers and an arrangement also provided for the voting

J. S. Rockefeller and Bride Start Honeymoon In 50-Year-Old Phaeton

Photographer Injured in Clash When He Attempts to Film Former Nancy Carnegie and Husband.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 16.—A honeymoon that started in a phaeton half a century old is being continued in an automobile today by James Stillman Rockefeller and his bride, the former Nancy Carnegie.

Leaving the scene of the ceremony at Dungeness, Cumberland Island, Ga., the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie II, yesterday afternoon, the couple were transported in a be-horned phaeton to a yacht that took them to Fernandina, Fla., where an automobile awaited them. They started north and their trip will extend abroad.

Reporters and photographers were barred from the islands. A dispatch to the New York Herald-Tribune relates that at Fernandina Henry S. Morgan and W. F. Winn, a photographer, came to grips through Winn's efforts to get pictures for a news reel as the guests were leaving the yacht. One of Winn's hands was injured, and he asked that an arrest be made, but there was no action.

The ceremony was performed on the porch of the residence with a sister, Mrs. Phineas Shaw Sprague of Boston, the former Lucy Carnegie, as the bride's chief attendant. Mrs. Robert Weeks Ferguson of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Henry S. Morgan of New York were matrons of honor. J. A. Carpenter of New York was best man.

The old phaeton in which the honeymoon was begun, decorated with many colored streamers and palms, was pulled to the dock by members of the bridal party.

A large company of relatives and friends of the Carnegie and Rockefeller families attended the wedding.

WAR DEPARTMENT GETS REPORT ON PLOT IN ARMY

Gen. Lewis Indicates Court-martialed Soldier Planned Revolutionary Trouble When He Enlisted.

PLOTS OF AGITATORS PROVED FUTILE

Some Soldiers Involved Are Not Likely to Be Punished, but Will Be Sent Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Additional light on the recent army court-martials at Honolulu has been given by the War Department in supplemental reports from Major-General Lewis, commanding, which explained that indications of a plot to foment revolutionary movements both among the garrison and civil population had been disclosed in the trials of Privates Paul M. Crouch and Walter M. Trumbull.

A 40-year sentence imposed on Crouch created something of a sensation in this country and the department had sought an explanation.

The summary of testimony at the trials was not made public yesterday by the department, but it is known to have pointed out that both Crouch and Trumbull were educated men and to have added that Crouch had planned when he enlisted to attempt the organization of a revolutionary society in Hawaii and among the civil population.

Several Others Involved. Crouch, who gave his former occupation as "journalist" when he enlisted, was described as having subscribed to the doctrine of the Third International, which included a proposal that world revolution be forwarded through the spreading of disaffection and disloyalty in the military and naval services of various governments, including the United States.

A dozen or more other men of the Hawaiian garrison were involved with Crouch and Trumbull, but have not been brought to trial as yet, so far as the War Department knows.

At least one other of these is reported to be a college graduate, and nearly all of them were members of the Headquarters Company of the Twenty-first Infantry.

What has impressed officials here as unusual is that two or three more educated men of communistic leanings should be found in the Hawaiian garrison spreading revolutionary doctrine. Recruits go to foreign service in the army only as their own application, and as far as possible are sent to the particular overseas garrisons in which they wish to serve.

The additional reports from Honolulu show that there was a more serious offense committed by Crouch and Trumbull than merely the writing of inflammatory letters to a Honolulu paper.

Whether the idea of stirring up a revolt against the garrison and spreading it to the civil population in the army only as their own application, and as far as possible are sent to the particular overseas garrisons in which they wish to serve.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES

STARTS ON TEST FLIGHT

Cruises Over Sea, Preparatory to a Week-End Trip to Bermuda.

By the Associated Press. LAKEHURST, N. J., April 16.—The dirigible Los Angeles left the Naval Air Station shortly after 9 o'clock today for a test flight preparatory to a second cruise to Bermuda the end of this week.

The Los Angeles headed toward Toms River and out to sea over Barnegat Bay, where she is expected to cruise about while making tests, following which she may go up the Atlantic coast to circle over New York City before her return here, about 4 o'clock.

Air station officials said that if the tests showed everything satisfactory, the ship would return to the mast tonight instead of to the harbor, and that "the week-end cruise to Bermuda might be started during the night or early tomorrow." Three bags of mail arrived here from New York yesterday, destined via the Los Angeles for Bermuda. More is expected to arrive today from Washington and Philadelphia.

The dirigible had her regular crew quota of 35 men aboard and also carried six army officer observers.

PASTOR CAPPS TO LET RIVAL HOLD FORTH IN CHURCH

Believes the Rev. Mr. Lohmann Will Leave When Notes Fall Due in August, He Says.

ACCEPTS FINANCE POST

Although the Executive Presbytery of the General Council of the Assemblies of God has declared him to be the pastor of Trinity, Tabernacle, Marcus avenue and Page boulevard, the Rev. J. Henry Capps announced today that he will not take immediate action to obtain possession of the church. He stated that he will continue to hold services at Euclid Hall, Natural Bridge and Euclid avenues, where he met with his followers last Sunday.

The Rev. Fred Lohmann, former pastor of the church, who was illegally re-elected pastor last Friday night, and his supporters may continue to hold meetings in the church, the Rev. Mr. Capps said today on his return from Springfield, Mo., where executive offices of the church are located.

Asked why he did not contemplate re-establishing himself in the church immediately, the Rev. Mr. Capps replied: "If you knew that armed persons were in your house day and night, would you try to take possession of it?"

The "harmony meeting" at the church a week ago last night, which resulted in a police riot call, and at which the Rev. Mr. Capps and his followers expelled about 100 members, including five of the 11 deacons who opposed him, was legal, the church's Executive Board has held.

The meeting last Friday night, at which the Rev. Mr. Capps was dismissed, and the Rev. Mr. Lohmann was recalled to the pastorate, was illegal because it was not called by the Rev. Mr. Capps and was arranged by persons who had been expelled from the church, the board ruled.

The Rev. Mr. Capps said that an indebtedness of $35,000 is outstanding on the $70,000 church building which was constructed two years ago. He is of the opinion that the Rev. Mr. Lohmann and his followers will get out of the church before notes amounting to $60,000 become due next August.

They would be foolish to do so, he said, but if they want to do so we will not object," said the Rev. Mr. Capps.

James the Rev. Mr. Lohmann. Speaking for the first time since trouble in the church reached a climax in a series of meetings last week, the Rev. Mr. Capps declared that discussion in the church for the last two months has been caused by the Rev. Mr. Lohmann.

"I was called to the church last December from Springfield to patch up the differences resulting from trouble between the two pastors, the Rev. Mr. Lohmann and the Rev. M. H. Markley," he stated.

"Both these pastors agreed to resign and leave St. Louis. The Rev. Mr. Markley located in New Jersey but the Rev. Mr. Lohmann was unable to obtain a pastorate and returned in February to St. Louis, in violation of his agreement to remain away, and he immediately visited several members of the church, informing them that 'God is not through with me here.' He spread stories about me and created dissension among my congregation, with the result that the church became divided, about one-half of the congregation favoring my retention and the other half aligning themselves with him."

Private records, including Paul Revere's own letters, show that William Dawes was one of the riders who aroused the sleeping farmers of Middlesex County of the approach of the British, after the signal lanterns had been set in the belfry of Old North Church. In Vice President.

At the same time, Baker announced the resignation of W. E. Zundt of Jefferson City, who was appointed to the post temporarily after the Governor, on March 24, last, removed State Finance Commissioner Frank C. Millsbaugh from office pending a grand jury investigation into the condition of the Finance Department.

When Millsbaugh was removed, the Governor indicated the duration of the suspension would depend upon the outcome of the investigation of the department. Baker today said the appointment of French was a permanent one, indicating Millsbaugh would not be re-appointed.

Baker declined to comment on that phase of the appointment, but it has been understood that Millsbaugh was not slated for reappointment under the Baker administration.

KANSAS CITY MAN
INDICTED ON BANK

Accused by Federal Grand Jury Investigating
"Wrecking Ring."LETTER BY KEMPER IS CITED IN CASEBanker Commended Ability of President of Now Defunct Company Whose Securities Were Peddled.By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 16.—James E. Brady, Kansas City promoter and alleged member of a bank wrecking ring that has ruined numerous Missouri and Kansas banks in recent years, was indicted here yesterday by a Federal grand jury on charges of using the mails to promote fraudulent schemes on banks. His bond was fixed at $20,000 and a Kansas City police were instructed to arrest him immediately.

Alleged Methods.
Brady has had several methods of operation, but his latest, and the one which resulted in his indictment, is described by jury witnesses as follows:

Financial statements of banks, big and little, in the four states would be studied, and to those which seemed in greater need of ready funds the following letter would be sent as an opening wedge:

"Gentlemen:
The demand for money from farmers is increasing.

"If you need additional funds to meet this demand no doubt I can meet your requirements by placing insurance or other money with you on six months' time certificate of deposit at 4 per cent.

"With the increasing demand, and firming up of rates, 4 per cent money furnished by me for six months' on time deposit may appeal to you. If it does, write me, indicating your wants and enclosing your latest statement.

"In writing, please advise if you will consider purchasing from me some secured commercial paper if the details, when presented, appeal to you. The proportion would be about $50 of this paper for each $4000 4 place with you on time deposit."

Signed by Associate.

These letters as well as subsequent correspondence were signed by and on the stationery of R. N. Stout, Kansas City investment dealer and associate of Brady, so that Brady's operation was disguised. Stout maintains Brady began using his (Stout's) name and stationery without his permission, but Stout admits he did not object to the practice upon learning of it.

"The commercial paper" referred to in the letter turned out to be notes signed by Stout, and the "securities" attached to them were stock certificates of the now defunct Suburban Utilities Co. of Kansas City, which was organized to manufacture power and light plants for suburban home. Only two or three machines are reported to have reached a market, but the company's stock has been widely scattered, partially through Brady's efforts.

Even Stout admits his notes are worthless and Postoffice inspectors class the stock as worthless, styling the Suburban a "paper company."

Kemper's Letter.
A letter written by William T. Kemper, now Democratic National Committeeman from Missouri, was a factor in the operations of Brady. The letter commended the business ability of R. M. Burgess, who was president of the suburban company.

Kemper's letter was included in files of correspondence bearing on Brady's operations, which were laid before the jury. It was written on stationery of the Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City, dated Feb. 24, 1923. Kemper had retired as chairman of this bank's board the preceding November. Addressed to a resident of Kansas City, it read as follows:

"My friend, Mr. R. M. Burgess, whom I have known well and favorably for some eight or 10 years has asked me to write and tell you my opinion of him as a man and his ability as a business man.

"For a number of years while head of the Commerce Trust Co. I was Mr. Burgess' banker and had occasion from time to time to transact business with him. I believe him to be a man of great ability, strictest integrity and capable of handling business of considerable magnitude.

"Very truly yours,
"W. T. KEMPER."

Conflicting Stories.

Two conflicting stories are told as to how Kemper's letter was obtained by Brady. Burgess has told post office inspectors that Kemper gave it to him for a purpose other than Brady's scheme and that it was stolen from him. From another source the inspectors were told that Kemper gave the letter to Burgess, who promptly turned it over to an agent of Brady. This agent wasted no time in having made 100 photostatic copies of the letter and these copies formed part of the high-powered "literature" which Brady showered on banks in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Three Years For Mail Fraud.
By the Associated Press.
COVINGTON, Ky., April 16.—James T. Ford, former resident of Fort Thomas, Ky., was sentenced to three years in the Atlanta Penitentiary in Federal Court here yesterday for using the mails to defraud in a religious registry swindle. According to postal officials, Ford canvassed the entire country in his operations and he conducted what was known as "Ford's National Service Bureau" as a medium for carrying on his enterprises. It was alleged that Ford had two schemes which netted him more than $150,000.

KANSAS CITY BANK MERGER CALLED ILLEGAL

Wrecking of Midwest Trust Company Was Result of Hughes' Threats, Says Its Attorney.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 15.—Charges of directors and officers of the Midwest Reserve Trust Co. of Kansas City, published exclusively in the Post-Dispatch Wednesday that it was wrecked late in 1921 as a result of abuse of power by J. G. Hughes, then State Finance Commissioner, were supported today by Francis C. Downey, attorney for the bank, in a brief legal analysis of the financial manipulations which brought about the closing of the bank.

In a statement to the Post-Dispatch Downey said the entire proceeding was illegal and that it never could have been consummated had it not been for threats by Hughes to close the bank and prosecute its directors.

Downey's statement agreed with the published statement of P. E. Laughlin, president of the Midwest, that the institution was forced to agree to liquidation by the Commerce or close its doors with losses to virtually all who did business with it.

"Supported by Hughes," Laughlin's statement in general was that the financial powers of Kansas City, as represented by the larger banks, deliberately set out to drive the Midwest from business, to obtain its account and because it had taken many accounts from them, and that in accomplishing the purpose they had the active support of Commissioner Hughes.

"It has always been my opinion," Downey said, "that the proceedings in connection with the closing of the Midwest Reserve Trust Co. were without authority of law for the following among other reasons:

"First—There was not, in my opinion, even good reason to believe that the bank was insolvent, and in this connection it may now be pointed out that subsequent developments show its condition to have been vastly superior to the condition of at least one other large bank in Kansas City deemed worthy of the confidence of the public.

"Second—No lawful meeting of the board of directors of the bank was called and no lawful action of the board was ever taken in connection with the transfer of the bank's assets to the Commerce Trust Co.

"Third—The question of the disposition of the bank's assets was never explained to the stockholders of the bank. In the absence of at least good reason to believe the bank in a failing condition, assuming the existence of facts which would, under the statute, have authorized the Finance Commissioner to take possession, such possession could lawfully have been taken without the consent of the directors or the stockholders, yet had the Finance Department taken such possession, the stockholders would have had an opportunity to protect their property by voluntary assessment or other action, which would have restored the bank to a solvent condition. Under the action forced on the bank such privilege was denied them.

"Fourth—The contract under which the Commerce Trust Co. took possession of the assets of the Midwest Reserve was signed without even the semblance of authority from the board of directors or from the stockholders of the Midwest company, and it is safe to say that the contract never would have been signed were it not for the threat openly made by Finance Commissioner Hughes that unless the action then under consideration, or action of a like nature, should be taken, the Midwest would not be permitted to open its doors the following morning. (It was then somewhere in the neighborhood of 2 to 10 o'clock p. m. Sunday night) and the directors would be prosecuted rigorously.

"Fifth—The execution of the contract under which the Commerce Trust Co. took possession never received the voluntary approval of the stockholders of the bank, or, indeed, of a lawfully called and held meeting of the board of directors.

"It is my belief that the wrecking of the Midwest Reserve never could have been consummated but through the medium of the Kansas City Clearing House Association, a voluntary association of certain of the large banks in Kansas City which through an executive committee of its members exercised a wide control over the business and affairs and obtained an intimate knowledge of the most sacredly confidential affairs of the business of the competitors of the banks whose representatives sat on the committee of the business and affairs of the depositors of such competing banks.

"This committee hired an examiner who made exhaustive examinations of the business of the competitor banks referred to, and prepared reports which were reduced to writing and to them the Executive Committee had free access.

"It is not difficult to perceive how such unlimited power placed a competitor's bank at the absolute mercy of the institutions, represented on the Executive Committee.

"Given the combination of the Finance Commissioner and such a committee and the commercial institution incurring their displeasure could possibly even reasonably defend itself."

TRANSATLANTIC AIR TRAVEL FORESEEN

Ellene Also Predicts Ocean Voyage in Near Future at Two Cents a Mile.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 15.—"On the air" last night was heard the voice of Edward A. Ellene, president of William Ellene's Sons Co. of Boston, in a forecast prediction of airship travel between the United States and Europe in the near future, and even sooner a steamship voyage at two cents a mile, with complete foreign tours at $7 a day.

Ellene said he spoke only after a "thorough investigation for the purpose of finding out not only what is available for the American of moderate means, but to discover what is coming next."

"Airship travel," said Ellene, "will be of great benefit to mail, express and fast passenger traffic, but not for many years will the fares be within reach of the average tourist."

"I make the confident prediction that in the near future, ocean travel will be possible at $125 for the round trip. The lowest present fare is $125. Today we have what is called the 'white-collar' third-class. Accommodations formerly reserved to the immigrant traffic have been restricted and restricted to the use of students, teachers, war veterans and other special groups. But present accommodations are a makeshift. In the near future we shall see 'one-day' ships with clean and comfortable accommodations at lower rates. They will have cafeteria service and every passenger will have the run of the ship."

First we shall see numbers of ships changed to the 'one-day' type at rates which today are third class. Next, we shall see new vessels specially constructed for this purpose. The new ships will make the voyage in eight days."

South America ENTERING ON NEW ERA, PERSHING ASSERTS

Press United States to Establish High-Grade Schools in South American Republics.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Strong governments responsive to the people have supplanted conflicts and dictators in South America. Gen. John D. Pershing told the Chicago Association of Commerce at a luncheon yesterday. Gen. Pershing is a member from the United States of the international commission which will supervise the Tacna-Arica plebiscite in an attempt to adjust the old boundary dispute between Chile and Peru.

South America is entering upon a new era under rule by law and not of men," said Gen. Pershing.

"Nowhere else are there such promising opportunities for our business and our capital, and business will be aided by the spirit of Pan-American brotherhood. The possibilities of the future can scarcely be overestimated."

Economic exchange of goods and intellectual exchange of ideas should be developed side by side. We could do no finer thing than to establish high-grade schools in the South American centers, for there is a demand on the part of South American parents for schools of our type. We should encourage the tendency of sons of South American parents to attend our colleges, returning to their own countries filled with the spirit of service."

MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY ASKS FOR A DIVORCE

Names Canadian Financier—Latter's Wife Also Files a Petition in London.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 14.—A divorce petition by the Marquis of Queensberry against his wife, naming Sir James H. Dunn, a Canadian financier, as co-respondent, appeared in the list of 63 undefended petitions to be heard during the coming court sessions which was published today. Lady Dunn also filed a petition, which likewise was undefended.

The POST-DISPATCH is the only St. Louis evening newspaper giving Associated Press news service.

AMPHIBIAN PLANES TO AID MACMILLAN

Group of Seasoned Navy Flyers Will Handle Craft on Last Dash to Pole.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 15.—When the MacMillan expedition pushes its way into Arctic this summer it will carry with it a little group of seasoned navy flyers and two airplanes of a new and somewhat strange type. On the latter, known as Leaning Amphibians, hangs the success or failure of this new venture in Polar exploration.

Perhaps the most striking fact about these craft is that they were designed primarily for service in the tropics and will undergo no special preparation for the frigid task other than to be fitted with skis in place of wheels. Extra fuel tanks will be added to increase their flying range but this concession is not to temperature.

A general purpose plane, the Amphibian, was purchased by the Government after exhaustive tests for service in Panama, Hawaii and other insular possessions where a ship that can land on either ground or water is invaluable. It had to fly in temperatures ranging from 4 degrees below zero to tropic heat before either the army or navy would accept it.

In Washington this winter the ship demonstrated its ability to land in the water, put down its electrically-operated retractable wheels and taxi up the sloping banks of the Potomac to its hangar—just like a duck coming home to roost," as one officer put it. It also showed itself able to outfly and outmaneuver army DH-4's which, like it, are driven by 400-horsepower Liberty motors.

At McCook Field the "Amphib" attained a high speed of 122 miles an hour and altitude of 14,000 feet. Equipped for the Arctic trip it will carry 250 gallons of gas and have a range of 1,000 miles with a crew of two and their provisions and equipment. Empty the plane weighs 2,200 pounds. Its complete useful load is 2,200 pounds. Its Liberty motor is inverted, a feature that not only has lessened head resistance and increased forward visibility but actually resulted in more power from the engine.

CHARGES FAIMAN IS BEING LAVISHLY ENTERTAINED

Chicago Attorney Ask for Writ to Direct Arrest of Shepherd's Accuser.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 15.—Charging that Charles C. Faiman, principal witness against William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder by typhoid inoculation of his young ward, William Nelson McClintock, is being lavishly entertained at expensive hotels and theaters at the expense of the State, a plea for a writ of mandamus to direct the clerk of the Criminal Court to issue a capias for his arrest was filed here yesterday.

Faiman is under indictment for murder with Shepherd, but has not been served with the indictment. It was Faiman who claimed that Shepherd came to his school and offered $100,000 for typhoid germs to kill his ward and gain possession of the estate.

The petition asking that he be taken into custody and placed in jail was filed by Eugene L. McGarry, an attorney, who said, "he acted simply as a 'citizen and taxpayer.'" The petition set forth that four guards assigned to take care of Faiman are also being boarded at a hotel at the expense of the State. A hearing is scheduled for next Monday.

Shepherd, charged with the murder of his foster-son, William Nelson McClintock, pleaded not guilty today when formally arraigned in criminal court today.

Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins overruled a motion to quash the indictment.

Cement Manufacturer Dies.

By the Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., April 15.—Lewis J. Bennett, Buffalo capitalist and philanthropist, died late yesterday in his ninety-second year. He was stricken ill a week ago in Florida and brought to his home here. At the age of 16, Bennett went to work in a grocery store in Fultonville for $4 a week. In 1877 he organized the Buffalo Cement Co., one of the pioneer cement manufacturing concerns in the United States. He was president of the company when he died.

Youth Admits Robbing Bank.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 15.—Joseph Colletta, 17 years old, was arrested by local police last night and confessed to participation in the robbery of the Riverview State Bank here March 2. Colletta told the police, they said, that Ernest Hardwick, known as "Young 'Babe' Jones," Tony Caldarella, a convicted robber, and a man that he did not know, robbed the bank. Colletta said he was shot and slightly wounded in the holdup.

$500,000 in Gold Stolen in Year.

By the Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 15.—More than $500,000 in gold was stolen from the deep mines of California during the past year, Gov. Friend W. Richardson announced in signing a "high-grading" bill. The measure is designed to insure greater safeguards around ore and provides a direct law under which mine thieves may be prosecuted.

CLUB TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

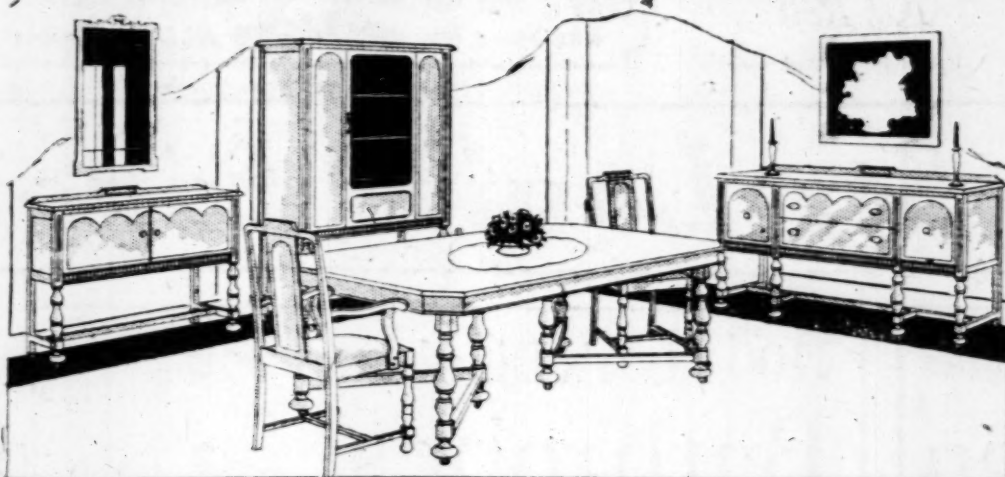

Will Be Presented Saturday at Webster Groves Armory.

The men's division of the Jesse L. Gaynor Choral Club of Webster Groves will present, at the Webster Groves Armory, Saturday evening, their second annual minstrel show.

This year's show is being put on under the direction of George R. Vold, assisted by Leo C. Miller. Ned Rosenberg and Alvin Griesedieck will take part, and Chester Merton, tenor, will sing. The performance opens at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be obtained at the Webster Groves Armory box office.

Why are 34,000 teachers training pupils to use LIFEBOUY?

You know what wonderful work teachers are doing to guard the health of children—directed by able physicians and nurses.

Over thirty-four thousand of these devoted teachers are training children to use Lifebuoy Health Soap. Each child—nearly two million—keeps at home a fascinating Lifebuoy Wash-up Chart which makes a game of cleanness, with gold stars to be won for a perfect record. Mothers co-operate, for these charts entirely change the attitude of children towards washing and bathing.

Why do you suppose teachers, Health Commissioners, Mayors and millions of sensible mothers have this enthusiastic faith in the protection of Lifebuoy?

The new cleanness convinced them

Dirty hands—the kind of dirt you can see—are convincingly, satisfyingly clean after a Lifebuoy wash. But make this

Write for a Wash-up Chart

If the Lifebuoy Clean Hands Campaign has not reached your children's school, write to us for a Wash-up Chart for each child, enclosing an empty Lifebuoy carton. It will be a big help in teaching your children to keep clean. They will wash and bathe without nagging—like to, because it's a game.

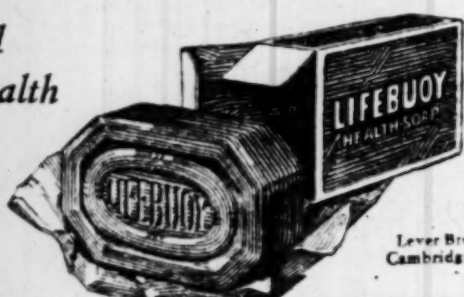

test: Wash with Lifebuoy when your hands are not really dirty—just sticky and uncomfortable. Watch the astounding amount of dirt that comes off. Where does it come from? That dirt tells the whole Lifebuoy story. It's the oily moisture and body-waste always collecting in pores. In it thrive and multiply the germs that get on your hands constantly—from almost everything and everyone you touch and from street dirt. Wonderful Lifebuoy lather gets it all—floods it away. Germs go too.

The skin lives

It is this purifying of pores that gives that delightful feeling of being cleaner than ever before. It is the secret—the only secret—of a beautiful skin. Day by day the skin grows smoother, softer, with lovely color pulsing just below the surface. The skin lives.

12 CAPTAINS OF POLICE ASSIGNED TO NEW POSTS

Changes Announced by Board in Effort to Bring About Greater Efficiency in Department.

Shifts of 12 police captains, announced yesterday afternoon by the Police Board, in its reorganization of the department for greater efficiency, brought most of the officers home to the districts with which they are most familiar.

Before Chief of Police Gerk read the list of new assignments to the captains at a board meeting at 4 o'clock, President Orrick of the commissioners read an announcement which concluded:

"Personal considerations have not entered into these assignments nor do they in any way reflect on the captains concerned. The simple fact is that when the new order takes effect each captain will be in the position where the board feels he can do most for the department."

Former Chief Assigned. Captain Martin O'Brien, formerly Chief of Police, assigned to the Page Boulevard District. Capt. Dudley McDonald, who goes from the North Market Street District to the Traffic Squad, is a veteran of that branch of the service. He was a member of the old Broadway squad, stationed at Fourth and Pine streets, when he was promoted to a Sergeant and served as Sergeant and Lieutenant under the present Chief when Gerk was Captain of the squad, going out to the district when he obtained his captaincy.

Capt. Charles Maupin. who goes from the Page to the Central District, spent most of his police career at Central, at patrolman, Desk Sergeant and Lieutenant. Capt. Charles Loepker goes from the Central to the North Market Street District.

Schwartz Back to Laclede. Capt. Albert Schwartz returns from the field to the Laclede District, where he spent many years and received his promotion to Lieutenant. He relieves Capt. Arthur McGuire, who received most of his training in the Detective Bureau, and goes to the Wyoming Street District.

From the Wyoming District. Capt. John Hoffman returns to the Newstead Avenue District, relieving Capt. Edward Doyle, an old-timer of the detective service and former Lieutenant in Central District, who goes to the Anzelica Street District. Capt. William Slinger, whom Capt. Doyle relieves, will take charge of the Carondelet District. This is generally regarded as "the sticks," but requires an executive hand on account of its nearness to a roadhouse district of St. Louis County.

Capt. James Johnson. who was in charge of the Dayton Street District when it investigated the sensational murder of Miss Edna Ellis, of which Albert Ellis was cleared on a second trial, is going back to that district from the field.

The new field Captains are Capt. William Tierney, formerly of the Carondelet District, and Capt. Wade Matthews, formerly of the Dayton Street District. Capt. Matthews suffered a collapse in his office the day following election. His duties in the inspector's office may be less strenuous. Capt. Tierney has been very active in his district and himself recently captured bank robbers who were fleeing from Barnhart, a lead belt town, from which they had been driven empty-handed.

Six Captains at Old Posts. Six Captains who are considered at home where they are and will remain there are Patrick Kirk, Souldard District; Frank Nally, Carr Street District; Octa Chrimer, Magnolia Avenue District; John Fannegan (former Chief of Detectives), Deer Street District; Robert Hanna, Mount District, and Seth Singleton, Night Chief.

Another home-coming is that of Sergeant John P. Roach, brought in from a uniformed sergency in the Souldard Street District as prospective head of the new morals squad. Sergeant Roach was transferred to that "sticks" assignment in 1923 with no explanation except the rumor that he had "made remarks" about a board member. Roach denied that, but otherwise kept his mouth shut and took his medicine.

His record had been outstanding. As head of the gambling squad he led a raid on an alleged poker game of prominent Republican politicians in the Claridge Hotel shortly before he was sent to "the sticks." Among other "good" arrests to his credit, fellow-detectives mention his arrest here of Roy Tyler, notorious bank robber, who was extradited to New York and now is serving a 15-year sentence. His transfer was asked by Chief of Detectives Kaiser, who joined Chief Gerk in stating that the choice of Sergeant Roach and that of Sergeant Maurice Mulcahy to lead the gambling squad were directed, as much as by their known ability, by the fact that they were "absolutely incorruptible." Roach's place in the Souldard District goes to Detective Sergeant Robert Stuart.

The tiny granules dissolve quickly, completely, making every drop of the wash water so richly soapy that the dirt floats out while the clothes just soak. Then you just rinse the clothes snowy white.

Pour boiling water over the Rinso granules to set all their safe, gentle cleansing power free. Use enough to get creamy lasting suds.
Drop in the clothes. Then soak—boil—or use

TWO VERSIONS OF JORDAN'S CONFESSION

EX-Detective Says He Freely Admitted Killing Officer;
Attorney Charges 'Third Degree.'

Testimony for the State in the second trial of Spencer Jordan, negro, for the murder of Patrolman Michael Finn on the night of May 25, 1921, closed at noon today with the introduction of a confession
which Jordan made to Detective Sergeants Vasey and Lesyna when the officers were returning him to St. Louis from New Orleans following his arrest there.

According to the confession, which Vasey (now resigned from the Police Department) testified was obtained without threats or promises, Jordan and his brother-in-law, Henry Page, a negro minister, had gone out to attempt the holdup of a fruit store when they were approached on Whittier Washington avenue, by four officers, three of whom were in civilian clothes. When one of the officers started to search him, the confession stated, Jordan jerked away and ran and later turned and fired back in self-defense after the officers had fired at him.

Vasey also testified that when he went to Jordan's home at 4832 Pinney avenue, after the shooting, he was greeted with several shots fired from the second floor as he started up the stairs. In his confession, Jordan said he didn't know at whom he was shooting on that occasion, but "didn't want to be caught." He escaped out of a back window. Circuit Attorney Siderer took the stand to testify that Jordan later confirmed the confession in his office.

Charges "Third Degree" Used.
Before the first defense witness was called, Freeman Martin, negro attorney who is defending Jordan, stated he expected to prove that Patrolman Jeremiah Flynn, who was with Finn on the night of the murder, approached Jordan, said "stick 'em up" and began searching the negro without identifying himself as an officer. He also said he would show that Jordan's bullets were not fired in Finn's direction and that "third degree" methods were used in obtaining the confession. Jordan is expected to take the stand in his own defense late this afternoon.

Eyewitness accounts of the revolver battle, in which Finn was killed and two other policemen wounded by Jordan, were given from the witness stand yesterday by Lieut. John Fleming of Eleventh District. Patrolman Flynn and William L. Bobbitt, who, with Finn, made up the police party that attempted to question Jordan and Page on the night of the shooting. Bobbitt, who was a special officer at the time of the shooting, resigned from the force two years ago.

Bobbitt, who said he wrote a report of the shooting after having been hit in the leg by one of Jordan's bullets, gave a detailed account of the revolver battle. The police party left their machine at Olive street and were walking north on the east side of Whittier. Bobbitt said, when Flynn noticed the negroes on the opposite side of the street and crossed, followed by the other policeman, to question them.

Flynn Was Shot Twice.
On approaching the negroes,
Flynn, who, with Bobbitt and Finn,
was in plain clothes, held his police badge in his hand and said, "Wait a minute, buddies, we are police officers," Bobbitt testified. Without answering Jordan drew his revolver and began firing. Bobbitt said. The first shot struck Flynn in the arm, knocking him down. The second shot was wild, but the third hit Bobbitt, felling him. He testified, Jordan's next two shots were directed at Finn and Lieut.
Fleming, who were several paces behind the others, according to the witness. After firing his fifth shot Jordan ran toward the alley, escaping a fusillade directed at him by Lieut. Fleming and the two wounded policemen.

Lieut. Fleming and Patrolman Flynn gave corroborating testimony. None of the witnesses said they saw Patrolman Finn struck by Jordan's bullet, testifying they found him lying in the street near the west curb shot through the head after Jordan escaped. Bobbitt and the two policemen were questioned closely by Freeman Martin, negro attorney for Jordan, regarding the directions in which they had fired during the exchange of shots, apparently for the purpose of attempting to show that Finn was struck by a bullet fired by one of his fellow-officers.

Was Sentenced to Hang.
Jordan, who is 32 years old, was found guilty by a jury in Circuit
Judge Killore's court on April 29, 1922, and sentenced to hang on Jan. 31, 1923. After several stays of execution the case was remanded last December by the State Supreme Court on the ground that erroneous instructions had been given to the jury. Jordan's companion, Henry Page, charged jointly with Jordan, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to 15 years for the murder and 15 years for a series of robberies in which he was implicated. He is now in prison.

world over and take mineral baths.
Men and women take these baths
to lose weight, improve their health,
and to rejuvenate the entire body.

Scientific research determined the most effective ingredients and the proper strength in such mineral baths. To these were added oil of pine and balsam as is done in European health resorts. Thus science improves on nature by combining these two types of baths of recognized value in this new and effective formula, SAN-I-SAL, protected by patent.

A San-I-Sal bath is therefore a far better treatment than a natural springs bath of similar type. And you can take it in your own bathroom.

Many people have taken off
2 to 5 pounds in one bath

You merely put San-I-Sal into your hot bath.
It dissolves quickly, giving the water beneficial weight-reducing properties. As you bathe, enjoying the fragrant aroma of pine woods, the pores of your entire body will be opened and their pent-up wastes poured out.
After the bath you'll sleep with the soundness of a child.

The following day you'll feel years younger.
Many people have taken off from 2 to 5 pounds in their first San-I-Sal bath. This is but natural if you are much overweight, for the releasing of pores that perhaps have seldom been properly exercised is sure to release a considerable quantity of accumulated useless weight.

An aid to a clearer, softer skin

San-I-Sal, by freeing the pores of pore-up waste matter, lends softness to the skin and aids in clearing up minor skin affections.
San-I-Sal baths are also taken by many people nowadays to relieve rheumatic and similar pains, break up a persistent cold, tone

Judge the results by your mirror

Prescribed by doctors and nurses

Doctors, nurses and various institutions order
San-I-Sal in large quantities for their patients.
It contains nothing that can possibly be harmful. Just refined natural mineral salts mainly from Searsville, combined with oil of pine and balsam.

Ask your druggist what he thinks of San-
I-Sal—and what other customers who have tried it say about it. Then you try it. Complete directions in every package. Price $1.00.
If your druggist hasn't it, write to the San-
I-Sal Laboratories, 1200 K Street, Washington, D. C.

GUARANTEE We guarantee to refund your entire purchase price if your first San-I-Sal bath does not reduce weight from 2 to 5 pounds.

WANTS THE COURT TO HOLD HUSBAND IS DEAD

Wife of Man Missing Seven Years Sues to Collect $1000 in Insurance.

Mrs. Mathilda Smolik of 1109 South Thirteenth street has petitioned the Circuit Court to declare her husband, Rudolph M. Smolik, legally dead, so that she may collect $1000 insurance on his life.

Early in 1918, Mrs. Smolik says in her petition, Smolik was held up and robbed of his gold watch. A man was arrested—Mrs. Smolik refers to the man as a gangster—and was identified by Smolik as the robber.

On April 13, 1918, five days before the preliminary hearing of the robbery case was to be held, Smolik left his home to go to the Missouri Pacific freight office, where he was employed as a clerk, and he was not seen thereafter, the wife says.

Mrs. Smolik's belief is that her husband was murdered to keep him from testifying in the robbery case. There was no reason why he should leave home, she says, and she declares he was a steady young man of regular habits. The insurance policy, in the Sovereign Camp of the Woodmen of the World, was taken out six years before the time of his disappearance.

The Circuit Court was in recess this morning, in its civil and criminal divisions, while the judges attended the funeral of Vital W. Garesche, who served on the Circuit bench from 1916 to 1922. The Federal Court was in recess until 11 a. m. by order of Judge Davis, a former colleague of Judge Garesche in the Circuit Court.

CHARGES IN CASE OF MINISTER

AND MANICURE DISMISSED

Counsel for the Rev. Mr. Johnson and Miss Elizabeth Lee Agree to Drop Complaints. Cross-charges of peace disturbance against the Rev. William Johnson, pastor of the Lillian Avenue Christian Church, and Miss Elizabeth Lee, a manicure employed at City Club, were dismissed in Police Court today when both announced through counsel that they did not wish to prosecute their respective complaints.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson, who is married and the father of grown sons, was arrested at the Blue Grass Hotel, 4040 Olive street, on complaint of Miss Lee on March 27. Miss Lee alleged he had pressed unwelcome attentions to the point of annoyance and had threatened her during a telephone conversation before coming to her room the night of his arrest.

Wife Tries to Fulfill 'Death Pact'

By the Associated Press. JOPLIN, Mo., April 16.—When Mrs. Florence Caraway swallowed poison Tuesday following the death of her husband, Charles Caraway, who was killed at Monett, Mo., Monday, by a "live" wire, she was endeavoring to fulfill her part of an agreement with him that if either died both would go to the grave together, according to a story related by friends of the couple. Mrs. Caraway is in a local hospital near death as a result of taking the poison. She and her husband were married only four months ago.

ENGINEERS DISCUSS ELECTRICITY ON SHIPS

Trips to Utility Plants Provided for Convention Visitors in Afternoon.

A historical review of the applications of electricity on shipboard from the time of the first electric lighting system to the present complicated but effective systems for electrical propulsion, featured this morning's session of the spring convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at Hotel Chase. H. L. Hibbard and William Hethcote Jr. were the speakers.

A plea for creation of an official rank for the electrical engineer in the merchant marine, compatible with his responsibilities and duties, was made by G. A. Pierce of the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Co. of Philadelphia.

Ship propulsion by an electric motor operated from a plant composed of a Diesel oil engine and a generator, now in use on large tankers and freighters, was discussed by H. Franklin Harvey Jr., electrical engineer of the Newport
News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock
Co., and W. E. Thau, marine engineer for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. The fact that the Diesel electric system affords the economy of the Diesel engine with the added advantages of smaller and simpler engines, flexibility, reliability and maneuvering qualities, was given as justification for its employment.

The afternoon program provides for trips to the Union Electric Light and Power Co. stations, the United Railways Co. plants, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and to electrified lead and coal mines near St. Louis. The tour also includes large manufacturing plants.

A banquet at Hotel Chase, this evening features the convention entertainment program. F. B. Jewett, past president, and president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., will speak on "Present Aspects of Electrical Communication."

The convention will adjourn tomorrow afternoon at the completion of an industrial session. The morning session will be devoted to mining.

U. S. COMPETITION STIFLES THE BRITISH FILM INDUSTRY

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright, 1932.)

LONDON, April 14.—Representatives of British film interests have announced their intention to apply to the Board of Trade for protection against American competition.
There is growing anxiety in commercial circles that unless something is done quickly to re-establish the British film industry there will be nothing left of it to save. During the last few years, matters have gone from bad to worse until today there are only two or three studios in use and those only intermittently, under grave financial handicaps.

Several years ago British film producers started a campaign to induce theaters to give preference to British films and for a time it looked as if success would crown their efforts, but just at the critical moment the Labor government, when in power, removed the Mc-Kenna duties, allowing American films to come into England on an equality with home productions, with the result that domestic films
went into a decline.

As matters stand today very few theaters are able to get British films, there being at least 10 American films to one British showing in London and the provinces.

Producers realize they may find it impossible to get protection owing to the strict requirements of the Board of Trade, which compels applicants to prove their industry not only is substantial but is efficiently managed. For the time being all British concerns have restricted development projects and have canceled options on building sites.

LUCY STEARNS CONDEMNS 'AGE OF JAZZ AND GIN'

Declares Freedom of Flapper Is Only a Denial of Conventions.

Motion pictures, modern dances, flappers and what she termed as the "age of jazz and gin" were all treated to a general dressing down by Miss Lucy Stearns in an address before the annual meeting of the St. Louis Big Sisterhood organization at the Coronado Hotel yesterday.

Motion pictures, she declared, were "emotion pictures" and are not taken from scenarios but from "obscene scenes." Modern dances, she averred, are merely the maximum of motion in the minimum of space and are corrupting civilization. As for flappers, she asserted the word was synonymous with freedom and meant freedom from clothes, freedom from hair, freedom from obedience and freedom from convention.

"Liberal" ministers and professors and others in public life who commend the flapper for her independence also came in for an arraignment for being satisfied with modern conditions.

"However," she added, "Eve was the only woman to escape criticism of her ancestors after all."

VERDICT OF $6000 IN FAVOR OF CADDY

Walter Biskup, 15, Suffered Injury to an Eye When Hit by Golf Ball.

A verdict of $6000 in favor of Walter Biskup, 15 years old, of 4819 Austria avenue, for an injury inflicted with a golf ball, was returned yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court against George Blumeyer, 3205 Hawthorne boulevard, president of the Eagle Supply Co., and Homer
A. Hoffman, 2416 Postal street.

Blumeyer and Hoffman were playing a twosome at Sunset Hill Country Club on July 4, 1922,
when a ball driven by Hoffman struck Biskup over the right eye.
Testimony showed that the sight of the eye was almost totally destroyed.

At the time of the accident Biskup was serving as caddy for Blu-meyer. It appeared the latter had driven off ahead of his companion and started down the fairway with the caddy. Biskup said that Hoffman failed to call "fore" in time to warn him. Negligence on the part of Blumeyer was claimed because he put the caddy in a place of danger and for the further reason that he employed a minor in a gainful occupation, in violation of law.

The defendants denied any negligence on their part and contended the boy was injured as a result of his own negligence. The Sunset Club also was named as a co-defendant but plaintiff's counsel dismissed as to it after a demurrer had been interposed on the ground that club did not employ the caddies. Their services are paid for by the individual members for whom they caddy, it was shown.
The suit was for $30,000.

MOTION PICTURE PEOPLE PROTEST AGAINST INVASION

Police Now Keep Sighting Busses on the Move in Beverly Hills.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 16
—Motion picture stars who live in this Los Angeles suburb, in common with others of their profession, are not averse to publicity, but when the "rubber-neck" wagons exceeded what is locally regarded as the limit, they promptly called upon the police for help.

The trouble started with the sighting of auto busses. The advertising slogan, "personally conducted visits to the homes of motion-picture stars" proved a lure,
the operators found, that seldom failed to get a load of passengers out of a downtown hotel lobby in Los Angeles.

Arriving in Beverly Hills they parked in front of some film favorite's home, and the chap who was barking through the megaphone would say something like this:

"Here we have the residence of the sheba of the movies. The lady in white sitting on the veranda is her sister. The gentleman sitting on the left is her fourth husband." All of which was embarrassing and annoying to the objects of attention. The sightseers got even bolder and would venture into the private grounds surrounding the homes.

So the residents got together and confided their troubles to the chief of police. The lumbering busses may still travel the streets of Beverly Hills, but they are met with the order to keep moving.

MAN IS SHOT IN HEAD BY WOMAN DURING RAT HUNT

Charles Osseck Is Treated at Hospital for Scalp Wound From Glancing Bullet.

Charles Osseck, 51 years old, of 3859 Theodosia avenue, was shot in the head by a .22-caliber rifle
in the hands of Mrs. Rose Maloney, of 2423 North Union boulevard, yesterday afternoon when they were engaged in a rat hunt in Mrs.
Maloney's rear yard.

Osseck was attempting to frighten the rat out of a pile of lumber so his neighbor could shoot it. The rat came out, Mrs. Maloney fired, and Osseck fell to the ground. He was treated at the Liberty Hospital for a scalp wound and later sent home. The bullet had struck a piece of lumber and glanced, causing only a slight injury.

PERUVIANS A STURDY RACE

Scorn Farm Work to Carry Heavy Packs on Mountain Trails.

LIMA, Peru, April 15.—Peruvian Indians are noted for their powers of endurance, especially as burden bearers. They back heavy loads over trails all day long, but would scorn to work in a field or at other forms of manual labor. There are few roads in Peru, especially in the interior mountain districts.
Most communication is over mountain trails, and over these the Indian will pack his load, carrying in weight from 60 to 90 pounds. For from 20 to 30 miles a day. With a lighter load Indian packers have been known to cover 50 miles a day for several days in succession.
Although slightly built, Peruvian Indians are very muscular. The women generally are even stronger than the men, though no larger and living the same kind of lives.
From childhood both men and women become accustomed to carrying heavy burdens on their backs. Their method of carrying differs from that of the Brazilian peon, who carries everything balanced on his head.

Four Points to Consider Before Buying Any Car

The Club Sedan

In your own interest, four considerations should govern
you in the selection of your next car.

Performance in actual tests, riding and driving qualities, economy of operation and maintenance and manufacturing back-ground.

We welcome a complete examination of the new good Maxwell on all these points. We are eager to demonstrate new and finer four-cylinder results and will gladly show you at any time how silently it performs, how alert it is, sweeping you from 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds. If you wish we will carry you along at 58 miles an hour. At the same time you are making these tests you will not fail to note how easily it rides and drives.

For economy we direct you to thousands of contented owners who report 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline and amazingly low upkeep costs.

As for soundness of construction, dependability and long life, bear in mind that the new good Maxwell is not only the product of one of the strongest organizations in the industry, but that it is completely built within its own great plants. In no other way could you be assured of Maxwell quality at the new good Maxwell price.

Remember, we are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to prove these Maxwell facts.

That MOTHER LOVE

New Way to Take Cod Liver Oil—Greatest Tonic and Builder of Firm Flesh and Sturdy Bones in the World.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets

Of course, all mothers—and grandmothers, too, for that matter—know that the greatest builder of firm, healthy flesh in thin, puny, run-down children is cod liver oil, and especially where there are any signs of Rickets.

But here's something every mother doesn't know—Cod Liver Oil helps to make strong, healthy bones—and even helps to make better teeth.

Yes, it's true: Doctors know it. Dentists know it—chemists know it. And now here's another surprise! No more will the kiddies have to take the vile, nasty tasting, evil smelling oil that nine times in ten disturbs their sensitive stomachs and almost turns them inside out.

Never again! Thank goodness, will they even have to smell the vile stuff, for now science has given us—and people who keep up with the times are taking—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

So now you can go ahead and make the sickly youngsters strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one put on good solid flesh—and if any one of them has Rickets you can conquer that, too.

Mother: Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 30 days if any of your children aren't up to par. You'll be surprised at the quick help they will give them, and if you aren't satisfied with results, Wolff Wilson, Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., or the druggist you purchased them from will return your money. One New Jersey boy gained 11½ pounds in 7 weeks. Be sure and get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Augustus Lukeman of New York Will Design Stone Mountain Memorial.

By the Associated Press.
—ATLANTA, Ga., April 14.—Augustus Lukeman of New York has been employed as the sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial. It was announced here today by the Executive Committee of the organization. He succeeds Gutzon Borglum, who was discharged some weeks ago.

Announcement of the appointment of Lukeman was made after the board of directors of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Association had ratified a contract previously agreed upon between the committee and the sculptor.

Lukeman is a native of Richmond, Va., and has a studio at 68 West Fifty-sixth street, New York City.

A statement issued by the committee said that Lukeman was highly recommended. He is 54 years of age. If confirmed.

Mr. Lukeman is a member of the National Sculpture Society, which is to his profession what the American Bar Association is to the profession of law or the American Medical Association is to the profession of medicine. He was formerly secretary and a member of the council of the society. At present he is the society's delegate to the Fine Arts Federation, which is composed of all the art societies of New York, including sculptors, painters, illustrators, architects, etc. He was formerly vice president of the Architectural League of New York. He is a member of the Virginia Historical Society, a charter member of the National Arts Club and an associate of the American Institute of Arts and Letters.

In Studio as a Boy.
—Mr. Lukeman began his education for sculpture as a boy 11 years old, securing employment in the studio of Launt Thompson, a noted sculptor of New York. He attended school in school hours, worked in the studio after school hours and attended art school at night. He learned bronze casting in a bronze foundry as an apprentice and as a molder. He learned granite carving by mastering the trade and working at it. With his earnings he paid his way through the National Academy of Design of New York and a course in architecture at Columbia University.

When the world's fair at Chicago was under construction Mr. Lukeman went there as an art student and obtained employment in the studio of Daniel Chester French, the renowned sculptor, who had charge of the sculpture of the fair. He rose to the important position of studio foreman for Mr. French and had under him a studio force of more than 100 men. His experience and training gained in that position were of the greatest value, especially in modeling colossal figures. He saved enough from his earnings to go to Paris and take the course in sculpture in the great Ecole Des Beaux Arts.

The statement declared that on returning to New York Lukeman renewed his acquaintance with Daniel Chester French and was associated with him for 10 years. French was one of Lukeman's strongest indorseers.

Some of His Works.
Among the works of sculpture, the statement continued, that Lukeman has to his credit are:

Statues of William McKinley for Adams, Mass. and Dayton, O.

Equestrian statue of Bishop Francis Asbury in Washington.

Statue in bronze of Franklin K. Pierce, fourteenth President of the United States, in front of the State Capitol in New Hampshire.

Memorial to women of the Confederacy at Raleigh, N. C.

The statement concludes: "Mr. Lukeman has agreed to go to work at once upon his model for central group and his plan for the memorial hall which, when finished, will be submitted to the association for approval. Also, he has given his assurance that he will devote himself to the Stone Mountain memorial until it is completed."

Two Detroit Banks Robbed.

By the Associated Press.
—DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—The second bank robbery within 24 hours here netted three armed men about $7000 in cash yesterday. They escaped with this sum from the Grand River avenue branch of the Northwestern State Bank after forcing three employees into the vault. Four armed men late Tuesday robbed the Epworth boulevard branch of the American State Bank of $1500, after fatally shooting Charles Taggart Jr., cashier.

Filipino Objects to U. S. Ship Sale.

By the Associated Press.
—WASHINGTON, April 14.—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, has protested to the War Department against the sale by the United States Shipping Board of the five presidential ships of the Transpacific fleet to the Dollar Steamship Co.

Italian Flyers Missing in Egypt.

By the Associated Press.
—BENGAZI, Tripoli, April 14.—Several days ago the Italian aviators, Commandant Capuzzo, accompanied by Lieuts. Ferrari and Russarelli, were forced to land in Egyptian territory. Since then nothing has been heard from them.

SATURDAY WILL BE ST. LOUIS DAY

THE SIXTH
of These Twice-Yearly One-Day Events

¶ "St. Louis Day"—most spectacular and convincing of all Merchandising Demonstrations in this city—was instituted by us to emphasize this establishment's Dominance in the community. Its Dominance in Buying—its Dominance in Selling—and most definitely, its Dominance in Value-Giving.

¶ With each recurrence, this occasion has assumed broader scope, until under the stimulus of its sixth advent, a tremendous effort has placed it upon a hitherto unbelievable pinnacle. Unlimited in its opportunity and certain in its economy, it establishes a new and unparalleled measure of value-giving in this vicinity.

¶ This is one of America's greatest stores—it is one of five great institutions serving as many leading American cities and their surrounding territories! Each is Dominant in its community and exercises world-wide influence; thus enjoying every advantage of co-operative buying—of which the daily benefit to you is obvious. But at no time is it so forcibly asserted as upon this semi-annual, one-day occasion.

¶ As a value-giving event, it is worthy of the most whole-hearted response of a discerning public; every personal and home requirement should be anticipated.

Advance notice of this event is given so that you may arrange to be here when the store opens at 9 o'clock Saturday morning

10,000 Balloons Given Away Friday!

100 WORKERS ON I. C. RAILROAD TUNNEL REPORTED ON STRIKE

Trouble Said to Be Over Refusal of Contracting Company to Recognize Union.

HARRISBURG, Ill., April 16.—Approximately 100 men building a tunnel on the Edgewood cutoff of the Illinois Central Railroad near Ozark, Johnson County, were on strike today after the refusal of the Guthrie Construction Co., yesterday to recognize the union, reports received here said.

The men were discharged by the company foreman 10 days ago when they joined the American Federation of Labor, but resumed work when Vice President Knox of the company went to the scene from Chicago and, according to reports, assured the men the wage scale would be raised in 10 days, that the company would recognize the union and that the camp would be in a satisfactory condition.

Yesterday, it is reported, the company notified the men that the demanded scale would be paid but that the union would not be recognized. The night shift did not go to work. The union organizing committee from Harrisburg, composed of J. E. Russell, James Rose and D. C. Wilson, is at the tunnel.

SLAIN NEGRO TENTATIVELY IDENTIFIED BY OHIO PAROLE

Certificate Found in Dead Man's Room Bears Name of Charles Johnson.

The negro prisoner who was killed by Patrolman Nicholas Hunt Monday night, after Hunt had captured him in an alley in the rear of the Hunt home, at 1550 California avenue, was tentatively identified by the police today as Charles Johnson, 30 years old, who had been paroled from the Columbus (O.) penitentiary Feb. 20, 1921. In the dead man's room, at 105 South Sixteenth street, the police found a certificate of parole from a sentence for burglary, and also found some skeleton keys.

The police have forwarded a description of the body to the Ohio prison. The man was shot by Hunt when he broke and ran while Hunt was calling the patrol to take him to the station.

X-RAY PHOTOGRAPH SENT BY WIRE AND AIR MAIL

Transmitted From New York to Chicago in 7 Minutes, Returned in 9 Hours and 7 Minutes.

NEW YORK, April 16.—An X-ray photograph of a human hand was transmitted by telephone wire from New York to Chicago in seven minutes yesterday, and arrived back here last night by air mail, nine hours and seven minutes after it was received in Chicago.

Officials of the General Electric Co., which conducted the test, said that the Chicago reproduction was a very good one, sufficiently clear for newspaper reproduction. The success of the experiment, it is believed, marks an important advance in surgical work, permitting specialists in distant cities to diagnose cases from X-ray photographs wired to them.

CONDITION OF CONGRESSMAN OLDFIELD REPORTED GRAVE

Arkansas Representative Was Operated Upon for Appendicitis at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The condition of Representative William Oldfield of Arkansas, who was operated upon for appendicitis described as "very critical" today in a statement from his office.

A slight case of ringerine had developed this morning, the statement said, and physicians looked upon his condition as grave. The statement added, however, that Oldfield's condition was not considered more serious than was to be expected in view of the ruptured appendix which the operation disclosed and that physicians were yet hopeful of his recovery.

H. L. DYER'S PROMOTION URGED

Spencer Also Backs C. C. Madison for Reappointment.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Reappointment of Charles C. Madison as United States Attorney for the Western District of Missouri was urged upon President Coolidge today by Senator Spencer (Rep.) of Missouri and Representative Dyer (Rep.) of St. Louis.

They also recommended the promotion of Horace L. Dyer of St. Louis from a special counsel post to an assistant attorney-generalship in the Department of Justice.

Asks $175,000 Alimony.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 16.—Recalling the days when she sold hair tonic from house to house to aid her husband in building up a business that since has made him a millionaire, Mrs. Lettie Fitch, wife of F. W. Fitch, has filed suit for divorce here and obtained a court order attaching stock in the Fitch Manufacturing Co. to guarantee $20,000 temporary alimony. She seeks a total alimony of $175,000.

Mrs. Fitch declared it was she who conceived the idea of manufacturing barber supplies. Fitch is charged with cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married at Liscomb, Ia., in 1892.

Pile Sufferers -- Don't Delay--7 Years Badly Afflicted-- Could Not Work--Grateful for Cure--Earns Much More Money and Feels Fine--Any Person Suffering With Piles Can Be Cured as Mr. Joe Bonczek Was--Read His Letter--it Tells an Interesting Story.

St. Louis, Mo., March 23, 1925.

Dr. C. Matthew Coe, 501 Pine St.
Dear Dr. Coe: Just a few thankful words to let you know that I am getting along fine since you treated me. I can't express how thankful I am to you, Dr. Coe. I owe everything to you, because you brought happiness to my home and children.

Before you treated and cured me Dec. 21, 1924 Dr. Coe, I weighed 145 pounds and now 152 pounds and I eat and sleep and work better. I am a moulder and when I went to work, I just couldn't work. They told me that I don't want to work and I just couldn't work. So now they all say they are all surprised how I can work. Before I was cured I made $15.00 a week and now $17 a week and feel fine.

Dr. Coe you can publish this letter and I'll be glad to tell anyone about my case. I'll recommend you Dr. Coe, and praise you as long as I live! God bless you for everything you have done for me. And I will thank God for the day I saw your advertisement.

KAROLYI TELLS AID AND OF
BY WORKERFactory Employees C Institute Law Suit Describes

THE Post-Dispatch prints today the fifth of a series of articles written by Count Karolyi of Hungary, telling the story he could not reveal in speeches in this country because of a pledge exacted from him by the State Department in Washington before the Hungarian exile was permitted to land in the United States. The public is already familiar with this "gagging" of Karolyi. Now that he has left the country, he has written for the Post-Dispatch the things he wanted to say to the American people.

By COUNT MICHAEL KAROLYI

MONTREAL, Quebec, April 13.

I was to join my wife, lying seriously ill with typhoid fever in New York, that I hurried to America on this present trip. The passport which I accepted without question, even though it put a padlock on my lips, served the good purpose of bringing me to her bedside. Now she returns to England with me, with her health and strength restored.

Countess Karolyi leaves behind her such a great company of friends in the United States, in addition to the hosts of unknown friends who have shown, in many ways, their sympathy for her, that I feel that I must write something about her in this series of articles. In my Memoirs, which I dedicate to her, I say:

"This book is mine. For three years the years of which these pages tell: For thou wert more to me than a wife."

In joy and sorrow, in all Thou wert my companion. Thou wert and art my companion in battle, in work, in suffering, in hope, in Companion and true comrade."

As we now leave America together, I am reminded that I left America on my last previous visit in 1914, just before the war, to return to Hungary to wed her. I was on the 1914 train, and in the altar Countess Karolyi, who in six years' time we should be sitting on a motor home, between soldiers with fixed bayonets. On that occasion my hands were manacled in iron chains, and my wife pleaded in vain that she might share them. Those iron fetters, which she would have borne with me, bound us no less closely together than the golden rings.

Banished from Italy. Those years which have elapsed since our wedding and our banishment from Italy, years of rise and fall, have been spent through good and evil in the closest intimacy.

My wife belongs to a family of statesmen, and grew up in a household of which the atmosphere was permeated with politics; she was soaked in them from childhood. She was far, however, from cherishing political ambitions in the sense so often attributed to her. The type of political activity carried on in the salon of her father's mansion on the Margaret Embankment, and in which, for a time, she participated, did not interest her. As soon, however, as my policy rose above the play of petty intrigues and acquired a more human character, as soon, in short as it began to be a policy of principles and ideals, it became a matter of deep interest to her.

There was never any question of her influencing the daily routine of my political career. What happened was something very different: she began to become the criterion of all my activity, for I felt that that alone was right which won the ready consent of her pure, strong young heart. I made her a Soviet, but it was she who taught me to sympathize with the sufferings of the poor in the war, to feel them intolerable. I felt

HONDURAN REBELS DETAINED

Party of Insurgents Reported

by Nicaraguan Authorities.

Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 14.

An apparent setback to the Honduran revolution was reported today when a party of revolutionaries, who were in Honduras, was detained at Guastamala, by authorities of this country. Guastamala is 42 miles south of Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras.

Nicaraguan reports Tuesday said that Gen. Gueggar Ferrer, Honduran revolutionary leader, had started a movement with 6,000 followers and that the Government declared martial law. The Honduran Government recently bought 300 rifles, 20 machine guns and 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition in the United States, with the consent of the State Department. Assurance was given these would be used only in support of the regularly constituted government and to protect foreign lives and property.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Voters' Will Should Prevail.

I BELIEVE it is in order for just a plain, ordinary citizen and voter to give his views and make a suggestion regarding the proposed majority contest. We now have Igoe's consent to proceed with the work. I venture to assert that Mr. Igoe owed this much to the majority of St. Louis voters, who showed beyond the possibility of a doubt that he is their choice for next Mayor. He owed it to the honest St. Louis voters because it is the wish of all honest voters that the man receiving the majority vote be our next Mayor.

Judges of our Supreme Courts make mistakes; so does the plain, ordinary voter. At the recent election some of the voters canceled the ballots they did not wish to vote by running a pencil through them. A few years ago this was the right way to vote. Is it right or wrong to disfranchise such voters when there is not the possibility of a doubt as to their intention, which I maintain is and of right ought to be supreme. Some other voters canceled the name of the man they wished to defeat, filling in the name of their choice. A few years ago this was the right way to vote. Is it right or wrong to reverse such voters' intention, counting the votes for the man they wished to defeat and against the man of their choice, because they did not understand that "new fangled" circle and square idea.

JOS. E. COTTER.

The Democratic Party.

THE whole art of government consists in being honest. A public office is a public trust. No Democratic administration is marked with the stain of official scandal. The spirit of Jefferson still lives. Jefferson declared that the Government for the people should be by the people. That is the principle of the Democratic party today. The Democratic party is not dead. The country has need of it. The time is coming when the people will rejoice that it has lived and lived to some purpose.

GEORGE A. RITTER.

Troubles of Shrewsbury City.

THE Ozark trail seems to start and stop in the little village of Shrewsbury—a little point of land extending out from Webster Groves towards the old Drummond farm. Said village has a population of about four or five hundred unassuming people of moderate means and it seems that these people have gotten in bad on the Ozark trail proposition. The people of Shrewsbury were made to believe that great advantage would come to them through establishing the Ozark trail as a much nearer route to the city, which might have been the case, but when the trail reached the Frisco Railroad it stopped and will probably stand there for the Frisco Railroad will have to make certain bridge changes before the trail can continue.

The Frisco Railroad, it seems, are under no obligations to make any changes and probably won't make any. Therefore, the bond issue on the new little town for the construction of this road don't mean anything, only more taxes.

They had the town of Shrewsbury of four or five hundred inhabitants called a city instead of a hamlet in order to force a bond issue on the people, and wonder when the people of this county will begin to realize the great necessity of getting into the city in order to get rid of such impositions forced upon them by a few little would-be county politicians.

NEIGHBOR.

Two Styles of City Management.

SINCE the people of St. Louis wish to select a Mayor of speaking and political organizing ability or because of his nationality or religious beliefs or because he is a wet or a dry, it seems to me necessary, if we are ever to get a proper business-like city administration, that our city charter be amended on the order of the new Kansas City charter, to permit of the election of a special city Mayor each four years, at a salary of $10,000 a year, who may have any of the above mentioned qualifications and the appointment by the Board of Aldermen of a qualified city manager, at a salary of $25,000 a year, and subject to removal at any time, to give us the proper administration of the city's business which we as business-like taxpayers should insist on having.

WILLIAM HENRY GRIEN.

Mischellaneous Mercury.

THE planet Mercury, accompanied by its force and running at about 30 miles a second, came directly toward the earth April 8, causing greatly increased force against the earth. The earth moved out of Mercury's way a little, which temporarily decreased this repelling force against the earth's crust. Among the more noticeable contractions that followed were the big storm and the earthquake vibrations in Japan.

D. A. N. GROVER.

CLARIFYING THE BALLOT LAW.

In announcing his intention to contest the majority election William L. Igoe, the Democratic candidate, states clearly that his object is to determine whether or not the voters shall be deprived of the right of suffrage either by an arbitrary provision of the law itself or by the dictum of an election official as to what it permits or prohibits. The right of the people to have their lawful ballots counted for the candidates of their preference is paramount to personal wishes, and should be vindicated.

No citizen of fair mind can condemn or criticize Mr. Igoe's action on the grounds he has stated. The whole object of an election being to determine the will of the people with reference to the election of candidates, it is manifestly wrongful to have the votes miscounted or to have the expressed will of the voters defeated by misconstruction of law on the part of administrative officials, or by mere regulatory provisions. No candidate ought to be holding office by reason of miscounted votes or a misinterpretation of the law.

The question of the meaning of the new ballot law and of the importance to be attached to its regulatory provisions as compared with the intent to have the votes counted and the voters' will carried out, is a judicial question, to be decided by the courts. Previous decisions of the Supreme Court lean strongly to the side of the clear intent of the voter, against voting regulations.

What will be the court's decision on these points and what will be the result of the recount cannot be predicted. Whether the decision goes to Miller or to Igoe, the important question of the meaning of the law and the proper counting of the ballots will be settled. The question of which candidate received the greater number of votes, counted according to the intent and meaning of the law, will be decided. After these decisions of court and of the recount, there will be no doubt in future as to the ruling with regard to the marking and counting of ballots.

These decisions for the guidance of voters and of the Election Commissioners will be well worth the cost and trouble of the contest.

HOT DOINGS IN DENVER.

That is a dreadful picture Thomas Mainland paints in Denver's underworld. Mr. Mainland is one of Mayor Stapleton's citizen spies who heroically volunteered to pose as a habitue and to collect evidence of vice, thus paving the way for the Good Friday raid.

Mr. Mainland makes it clear he was actuated by a high and noble motive. That motive was "to prevent the degeneration of our boys and the ruin of our girls." Now that he has accomplished that mission, he will go back to his job at the Hungarian Flour Mills, filled with messianic thrills.

No doubt he will be unable to chase from his brain the lurid sights which he was obliged to witness. He saw "debauchery, licentiousness and drunkenness" among school students. He saw "dozens" of boys and girls drunk. "Some of the girls just guzzle down anything anyone gives them. They don't care what is in the bottle. If it's the worst kind of corn whiskey they'll turn the bottle up and swallow it."

Unless Denver has descended to depths unknown to other American cities, Mr. Mainland's account of his life in the underworld sounds like a puritan dream. There is so evident a gusto in his condemnation of Denver's young folk, such a palpable effort to be shocking, as to make the details of his experience defy credence.

But, even if all the scariest details are perfectly true, Denver need not worry. In the person of moral giants like Mr. Mainland it will find quick redemption. How can a city continue to purr depravity when it is blessed with stalwarts like him?

THE GOAL OF JUSTICE.

It is taking considerable time for the Missouri Association of Criminal Justice to attain its objective. Before it could be organized opinion in its favor had to be enlisted. Following organization decision on methods and scope had to be made. That is about the point which the enterprise has reached to date. Next come seven or eight months of investigation, then the formulation of remedial measures, and finally a drive to get them adopted in the statutes of Missouri. All through this process funds to carry on the work are being solicited.

If the desired objective is attained, the result will be well worth the price in money, time, effort and patience. To contribute to that effort should be the aim of every citizen of the State. It should be particularly the aim of the inhabitants of the cities where the failure of the administration of justice is most flagrant. We have nearly reached the point where it must be decided whether recourse against crime shall be found in the courts by due process of law or whether the people shall be driven to direct action.

To remain a civilized community we must insist on competence in the authorities of the law, in the courts and in the law itself. This is an end for which St. Louis has long waited and in the postmortem of which we have suffered in life, limb and property. At last, through a citizen organization fully advised in the law, the way is shown. It remains for the community to voice its loyal and earnest support in whatever coin of service or resources it can command.

Even though he failed this time to accept the honor, Briand is the world's most persistent Premier.

THE STRICT BUSINESS OF BASEBALL.

The Browns are starting the championship season with an improved team and brighter prospects for finishing well up in the race. There is, however, one cloud on the horizon—the absence of Centerfielder Jacobson from the lineup.

Jacobson did the best work of his career last year. He felt he was entitled to an advance in salary and asked for it. The owner of the club, P. DeC. Ball, refused even to consider it. There was no conference, no negotiation, no effort to reach a compromise agreement. Jacobson was offered the same salary he has been drawing annually for several years, with instruction to take it or get out of baseball.

Ball's explanation is that he intends to run his ball team on a business basis. Very well. But surely in the business of baseball a club owner can practice ordinary business courtesy. He can also show some deference to the baseball public that supports his team.

Baseball everywhere is suffering from too much business and too little sportsmanship. Apparently this is painfully true of the St. Louis Browns.

BANKING OR BANDITRY.

The Post-Dispatch yesterday printed an extraordinary story from Kansas City about a bank merger by which the Commerce Trust Co. absorbed the Midwest Reserve Trust Co.

Men conspicuous in finance, politics and official life figure in the affair. Among them are W. T. Kemper, Democratic national committeeman from Missouri and for many years a power in Kansas City's financial and business circles; J. C. Hughes, former State Finance Commissioner, a position given him by Gov. Hyde as a reward for his services as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in the campaign of 1920; Donald W. Ross, who, as a trusted agent of the State Finance Department, took charge of the remnants of the local Night and Day Bank after Meininger's exposure and flight and who is charged with continuing the looting.

According to one version it is a story of banditry rather than of banking, even though it was accomplished in conferences and by strategy. As P. E. Laughlin, president of the Midwest at the time of the deal, tells it, he and his associates were compelled to accept the terms submitted by Kemper by which Commerce, of which Kemper was then the head, took over their bank. Laughlin says that the officers, directors and the stockholders of the Midwest did not receive a penny for their bank. He says they reluctantly yielded under a threat from Hughes, who was then State Finance Commissioner, to close the Midwest bank the next morning and start criminal prosecution of the directors. Ross says he heard Hughes make the threat. And along with the power of the State of Missouri as represented by Hughes, the Kansas City Clearing House, it is charged, lined up with Kemper and the Commerce Trust to put the Midwest out of business.

Kemper tells a different story. He says the Midwest was in a bad way; something had to be done; the only thing to do was to absorb it; that the Commerce, as the biggest bank and the only one able to do so, had to do it; that the Commerce acted from a sense of public duty, to protect the other banks and to prevent the grave consequences that might have followed a bank failure.

Obviously, it is impossible to say which story is correct. Obviously, too, the divergence between the two stories is too wide to be explained by a misapprehension of the facts. The situation calls for an official investigation. The necessity for such investigation is emphasized by the fact that our State Finance Department, already in bad odor from the activities of the deposed Commissioner, Millsbaugh, is unfortunately involved in this affair by Millsbaugh's predecessor, Hughes, who resigned as Commissioner to take the position of cashier of the Commerce Trust Co. Hughes says he has nothing to say.

Attorney-General Otto, seemingly, has another job on his hands.

When it becomes easier, as it was in France, to unseat a Government than to get a new one to take the job, it is about time to begin regarding constructive statesmanship as a necessity.

A "GENTLEMAN" HAS DEPARTED.

There is, as there should be, rejoicing among true gentlemen everywhere that Herr Fritz Haarmann of Hanover, when called upon to die, died as a gentleman. If he had merely died it would have been a matter for congratulation, but by dying as a gentleman he has invested his departure with grace of manner as well as significance of achievement.

Herr Fritz had, in the course of his career, ended the careers of 26 other persons, men and boys. The circumstances of each case constituted what the police call murder, but in such matters the police permit themselves a certain uncouthness. As for Herr Haarmann, he never forgot that he was a gentleman. It pained him to be called to account and accused as a common murderer.

If he had, in a rage, killed somebody, yes, that would have been murder, and in that event he should have been treated as a common murderer, and no favors asked. But he killed 26, not in vulgar rage, but for the pleasure that it afforded him. Showing thereby that he was an artist as well as a gentleman.

But what do the courts know about art? Simply nothing. They found Herr Haarmann guilty, just as though he had been a common murderer. And a day or two ago the Court's decree that he be beheaded was carried out with due solemnity. But the hero was a gentleman to the last. Given a chance to say something, all that he cared to say was that he wanted to die as a gentleman. It is by such infallible signs as these that a real gentleman is known. Vale Herr Fritz Haarmann of Hanover, gentleman.

All that the Department of Justice needs is as much zeal in catching bootleggers and illegal monopolies as in bounding senatorial investigators.

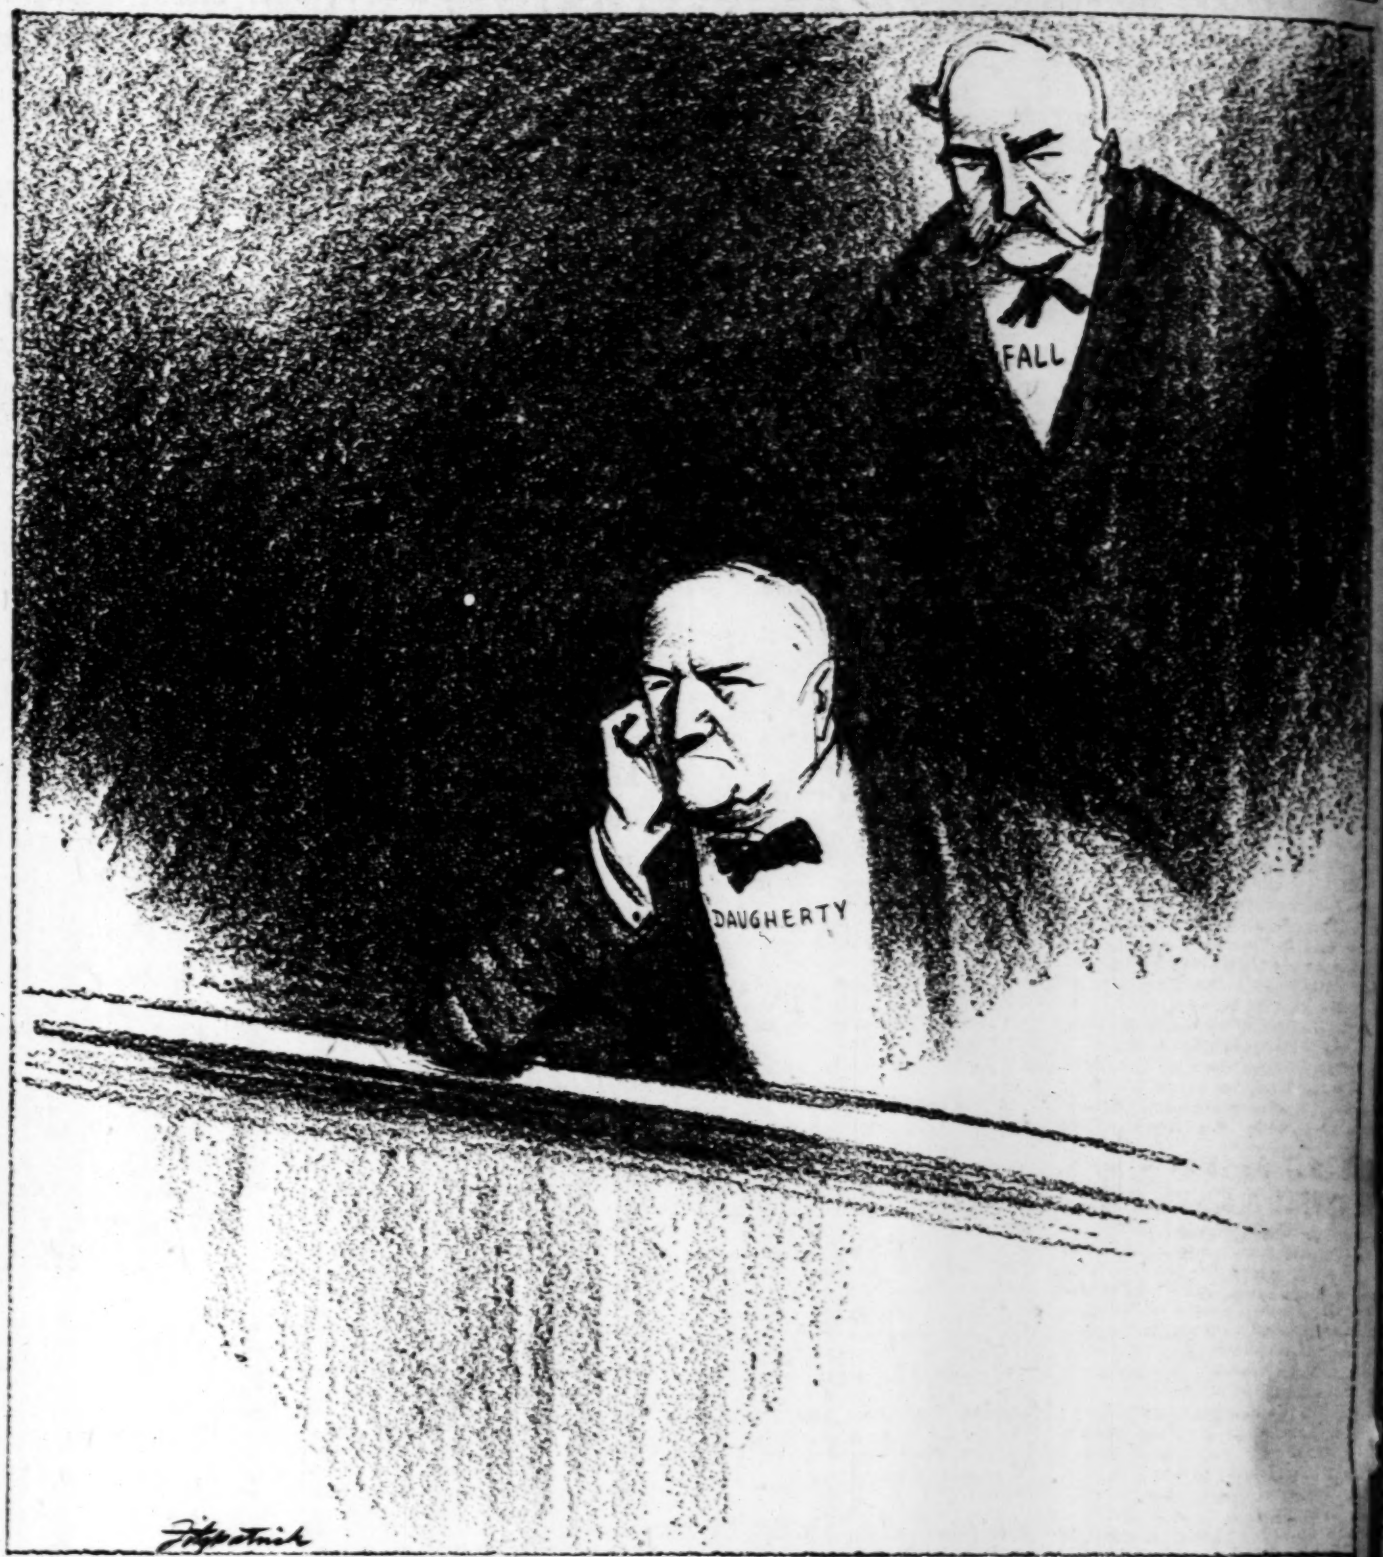

THE ABSENTEES OF GREAT FALLS.

The trial of Senator Wheeler has transformed Great Falls, Mont., from a dot in the Northwest's spacious isolation to a focal news point. The great are there in droves—principal, counsel, witnesses—while the shadowy figures of secret service men lead an Oppenheim touch to the mise en scene. Great Falls is having much the same rendezvous with the night as Cheyenne, Wyo., recently kept. And as at Cheyenne, the absentees are investing the Great Falls occasion with the same baffling distinction.

Among those not present at Cheyenne, it will be recalled, were Blackmer of the Midwest Refining Co., O'Neill of Prairie Oil and Gas and Stewart of the Indiana Standard. The non-haunted jungle of Africa, the romance of the Riviera, the buried treasure of Colombia had severely lured those personages beyond the long arm of the Cheyenne court's jurisdiction. Similarly, at Great Falls, princely chairs are vacant on which should be sitting Mr. Blair Coan and Mr. George B. Lockwood. Those cronies of ex-Archbishop Daugherty are not fugitives from the subpoena. The Government did not summon them. But their absence leaves curious, provocative gaps in the ensemble.

The defense, it is said, will try to bring to Great Falls those two men who toyed so prodigiously in exploring and exploiting Senator Wheeler's alleged activities. We hope the effort succeeds. The testimony of those witnesses should be enlightening. It should restore, in public recollection, the fading picture of Washington in the heyday of the Ohio gang.

A booster writes us that Kansas City is not a lick town. Not when the police station is robbed of 157 gallons of captured hoec.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: I suppose you young men have been reading the political news from Europe?

Glaucous: We have nibbled at it. Socrates: Very well. You must then have observed that wherever Socialism has gained the ascendancy the troubles of the country are many times multiplied and nobody seems to know which way to turn. Polemarchus: As in France, for instance.

Socrates: Yes. Also in Germany. There is a profound truth lying back of all the mess over there, the confusion of France, the demoralization of Germany, the isolation of Russia and the impotence of England. You are young men, and in your time you will hear a great deal claimed for this, that and the other political ideal. You will find among Socialists great thinkers and writers. Most of the fine political scientists will incline to an improvement upon anything we have. You may see other extensive experiments like that being made in Russia. The point I want to make is that there is only one form of government in which there is any enthusiasm or for which anybody able to do anything for the government will turn his hand over. This is the kind of government we have always had—government which enables a limited element of the population to rule on the whole.

Thrasymachus: By Jove, Socrates! I believe you are right. Socrates: If you will look the world over now you can hardly doubt it. The moment the Socialists came into power in Europe that part of the population which is accustomed to prey upon the mass busied itself with obstruction. In the case of Russia it went so far as to send armies against the Government. What it has done in England, Germany, France and wherever else any political ideal other than government for the few has lifted its head has been only a remote from that.

You would not say that the Social Government of Germany, for instance, has enjoyed the co-operation of the people who are now trying to put Gen. Hindenburg in the presidency?

Polemarchus: No. Socrates: Nor would you say that the troubles of Herriot in France or those of MacDonald in England have been lessened by aid from those vast reservoirs of influence which usually reign in any country?

Glaucous: Certainly not. Socrates: But you would say, wouldn't you, that what has happened all these countries is about what happened our own railroad when the Government undertook to run them?

Thrasymachus: Truly. Socrates: Very well. That is the point I wanted to make. Political idealism—the sort of thing Socialists think, that Thomas Jefferson thought, that Abraham Lincoln thought, that Woodrow Wilson thought, the sort of thing for which Mr. Roosevelt made such a profound flourish—is against the interest of the ruling class. Therefore, we can't have it. The people who exploit us will sabotage a railroad or a country the moment they lose control. Just now they are sabotaging France.

Polemarchus: You said something then. Socrates: Did I? Then let us go look for muskrats.

ON BEING PAID FOR WRITING.

My wife, a wise woman, derides me for contributing to Just A Minute without pay. She says: "Your style is good, your English superior, and by keeping on saying a variety of things you sometimes say something sensible. All this is worth money."

The poor woman is gifted with a most practical mind which does not understand the inwardness of writing for Just A Minute. Granted that style, English and ideas are good—even worth paying for—all three, wither in the cold blast of so much per word. The very beauty of Just A Minute is the absence of pay. In the almost sacred confines of the column the free writer may say what he pleases and be under no obligation to give value for value received. Mix a modicum of fact with a bit of irony, a dash of wit. Shake well in a container of laughter. Out comes an inspired cocktail of criticism. Add one dollar to the mixture and it becomes bitter. In Just A Minute one may still skulk behind a norm de plume. Under the beneficent protection of this one can say one's say—and not lose a customer!

Consider the audience. By a process of unconscious selection the readers of Just A Minute have been sifted and refitted. In this charmed circle may no dumb bunny enter. Those whose name is legion browse through the P. D. in search of mental fodder. Some nibble at the offerings of Mr. Adams and they flee in disgust—back to the sport page or comic section, there to consume the daily fare of Babe Ruth or Mutt and Jeff. Those who taste and remain at the daily font of wisdom served by our Scotch friend are capable of grasping ideas and correlating thoughts. In this respect and for these reasons Just A Minute ranks the world for real quality circulation. Even the New Republic cannot boast of readers of the mental caliber of Just A Minute. I hear that Andrew Mellon reads the New Republic.

To sum up, here is a medium that offers any intelligent audience perfect safety, large freedom. Why spoil it by insisting that it pay?

Besides, I can make a darn sight more doing something else.

ROMANY.

Near the wild and windy corner. Where the wanton breezes blow. On the plateau in plumed wreaths. There the gypsies come and go. There they pitch their tents in springtime. Singing strange nomadic lays. While under the blue and cloudless arch Their shaggy ponies graze. The smoke curls from their campfires. Trailing off in plumed wreaths. Flaunting indigo shawls of the women. With vermilion skirts to their knees. Would you know black magic and secrets. Hear weird, plaintive music flow? Get to Romany to the southward. Where the gypsies come and go. CLARA W. BLELOCK.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to represent without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

A CITY WITHIN A CITY.

From an Article in the American Review of Reviews on Harlem, N. Y.

IT began in Colonial times as a Dutch village, named for the ancient Harlem, Holland. Americans, Irish and Jews came at different times predominated in the population of Harlem, but during the past years the negro race has rapidly outnumbered all other elements. Locke, a graduate of Harvard, Oxford and the University of London, who has been a student of the African, the West Indian, the negro American, has brought together the negro of the North and the negro of the South; the man from the city and the man from the town and village; the peasant, the student, the business man, the professional man, artist, poet, musician, adventurer, worker, preacher and criminal, all in one social outcast. James Weldon Johnson points out that this great negro community is a city within a city. He says: "A stranger who rides up magnificent avenue on a bus or in an automobile must be struck with surprise at the transformation which takes place after he crosses One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Winning there, the population suddenly changes and he rides through 15 solid blocks where the passerby, the shopkeeper, the sitting in restaurants, coming out of the stores, standing in doorways and looking at the windows are practically all negroes; then he emerges where the population suddenly becomes white again."

RAISING BYRON'S "CAIN."

From the New York Evening World. THE Manhattan Little Theater Club is to be commended for its courage in attempting the production of Byron's tragedy "Cain." The fact that it is a really successful as the successful presentation of the play in Russia and Germany. There are some pessimists who insist that the excellence makes no appeal on Broadway and however that may be there can be no doubt that plays without the literary quality do. In this day of superficiality and jazz some of our critics are quite persuasive that no drama that reads well sounds well from behind the footlights. The fact that Barrie, Galsworthy, Pinero and Ibsen have written plays of literary merit that have applied to the present hour. Then, too, "Cain" makes no sex appeal, and fails to strike the jazz note. All of which is complimentary to the courage of the experimenters with the play. Had Byron planned a revenge a century after his death he would have made success a certainty by writing "Cain" in the spirit of Don Juan. Even so there should be enough patrons of the theaters in New York with a partially literary taste to reward the literary drama, the commendable efforts of the Little Theater Club to create interest in a powerful drama on a fascinating theme by one of the greatest of the English poets.

GARRISON ESTATE TO WIDOW AND CHILDREN

Smaller Trust Funds for Grandchildren and Special Bequests of $7500 in Will

The bulk of the estate of Oliver Garrison, who died April 9, at his home, 4 Brentmoor Park, is placed in trust for his widow and three children under the terms of a will which was filed in Probate Court at Clayton yesterday. Smaller trust estates are created for three grandchildren and special bequests totaling $7500 are also made.

The trusteeship in the case of the widow, Mrs. Mary S. Garrison, is to extend in three years, when the principal will be paid to her. Equal amounts will be paid to the children, Oliver Clifford R. and Mrs. George A. Elder of Chattanooga, Tenn., who are to be paid at the end of five years. For his grandson, Oliver L. Garrison III, a trust fund of $5000 is set aside, to be paid when the beneficiary is 21 years old. A fund of $5000 is set aside under similar conditions for another grandson, Oliver Garrison Elder, and $5000 for a granddaughter, Mary Garrison Elder, the payment in her case to be made when she is 21.

Special bequests include $4000 to furnish two rooms of the Memorial Home of St. Louis in memory of his father; $1000 to Mary Ann McDonough, for faithful services as a maid, and $500 to Louis Robinson, the family chauffeur.

Garrison, who was 55 years old at the time of his death, was president of the Pilot Knob Iron Ore Co., vice president of the St. Louis Paper Co., and a director of the Merchants-Laclede National Bank.

MRS. JOHN D. SHERMAN, HEAD OF WOMEN'S CLUBS ON TOUR
on Swing Around Eastern Half of U. S.; Will Visit Southern Cities.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is on a swing around the eastern half of the United States, ever undertaken by the head of the clubwomen of the land. The long trip Mrs. Sherman made in November when she went west to Washington to Estes Park, and back in order to vote. Mrs. Sherman went to New York here on April 15 she called for the educational committee of the National Outdoor Recreation Conference. In Boston on April 15 she met the State presidents of the federated clubs. The next stop was Chicago to go on the radio for the Women's World's Fair. State meetings of federated clubs are up the rest of the itinerary which Mrs. Sherman will follow. Garden, W. Va., American Great Week. The rest of Mrs. Sherman's program follows: April 22, Conway, Ark.; April 23, Jackson, Miss.; April 27, New Orleans; April 28, Mobile; April 29, Memphis, May 1, Baltimore.

Church Ignores Evolution Issue.

Associated Press. INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 14.—Charges that evolution was being taught in their schools were ignored by the board of directors of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints here yesterday, when a conference gave its indorsement to the schools and re-elected to the board of directors five men and two women who are known to be in the present policy of the schools. The school board is being taught came upon the report of Graceland College at Lamoni, Ia., was submitted for approval. E. F. Long of Lamoni, Ia., in the evolution charges. After school board, the conference's indorsement of the school was given.

FARMER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE AT TROY, MO.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TROY, Mo., April 16.—One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a trial in Lincoln County was here yesterday to attend the preliminary hearing of Cecil Davis of near Oketo. Davis was charged with killing Will Wells. Davis and Wells met on a road, Saturday, April 4, and in an argument Wells threatened Davis with an ax. On the following Monday, when Davis saw Wells coming, he went out with his gun. Wells threw his ax at Davis and was shot four times. Justice W. A. Ellis ruled that it was a case of murder in the second degree, and therefore was a bailable case, releasing Davis on $10,000 bond for his appearance in next regular term of Circuit Court.

JACOB SILER GIVES AWAY 4000 BOOKS

Master of Dog Joe, Donates Them to Public Library at Galesburg, Ill.

After finding a country home for his faithful dog, Joe, and, incidentally, a home in the same place for himself, Jacob Siler, whose care for his canine friend attracted public attention, has seen to the disposition of his 4000 books of history and fiction. He has presented them to the Public Library at Galesburg, Ill.

Siler, who is 82 years old and formerly resided at 1806 South Seventh street, has changed his residence to the home of William P. Mertz, Althelm, St. Louis County, where he found a haven for himself in searching for one for his dog.

Books Being Delivered. He asked that his gift be accepted immediately, but did not make known why he chose this institution to receive his collection. A motor truck was sent here for the books and took about 3000 volumes to Galesburg, arriving there today. Another truck then was dispatched for the remainder.

Eight years ago Siler wrote to Miss Ann Hoover, librarian of the Galesburg Library, stating that he was about to make his will and desired to bequeath his books to that institution. Nothing more of the offer was heard by her until Siler wrote, several days ago, that he was about to go to a quiet home in the country with his dog, and wished the gift to become effective at once, without awaiting his death.

Reason for Gift Withheld. B. E. McLaughlin, a member of the Galesburg Library board, came here to arrange for transporting the collection, but he could not learn the reason for the gift. "In due course of time the facts will come to light," said Siler. He added, however, that a friend who had attended Knox College, Galesburg, had had something to do with his decision. Siler never visited that town.

The collection, which will be known at the library as the "Siler collection," is regarded as worth while. A special section of the library will be reserved for it.

crime problem. It needs investigation. It is getting more serious every year. Delays in criminal procedure are so great and the criminal is so coddled when he finally is sentenced to prison that our crime machinery goes along haltingly and inefficiently. In Europe crime is suppressed much more effectively than in the United States. Insufficient judges, crowding of court dockets, elective instead of appointive judges and other conditions interfere with effective crime suppression here.

"The attempt to regulate individual conduct also creates grave problems. While I am not interested in the controversy over whether such moral laws should be passed, I am interested in the result. For it seems that the tendency of these restrictions is to produce big corruption machines, bootleg rings, which may in the future have a significant political effect upon the whole country. These tendencies are still under the surface and are perceptible only to the close observer of the undercurrents. But they point to very significant possibilities. The rise of corruption rings of national proportions is a condition which the country may some day face."

Dictatorship in Italy. Reverting to the subject of Italy's dictatorship the former Ambassador said:

"In Italy the movement toward the right resulted in a very strong and stable government. Mussolini's forceful rule has carried Italy far on her way to post-war reconstruction. There are reports that his rule is near its end. If Mussolini goes, some other strong man in his party undoubtedly will take up his post and continue the strong government he started. From my contact with him, Mussolini impressed

TRY LEMON JUICE TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful full skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

MOTORMAN'S ARREST HALTS CAR SERVICE

East St. Louis Fire Department's Dispute With Company Blamed for Tie-Up

Street car service on the Main street line in East St. Louis was tied up for 25 minutes yesterday when Motorman J. L. Cocoran was arrested and forced to abandon his car and passengers while he was taken to the police station.

Cocoran, who serves both as motorman and conductor on the one-man car, was charged with failure to stop his car at the approach of fire apparatus as required by city ordinance. He attributes his arrest, however, to a row of long standing between the street car company and the Fire Department over the revocation of fire rights for firemen and the refusal of the Fire Department to break hose lines to permit the cars to pass.

Thomas Davis, captain of Company No. 3, reported to Fire Chief Whalen yesterday that Cocoran had run his car in front of the apparatus at Sixth street and Bond avenue as the truck was answering an alarm and that a serious accident was barely avoided. The motorman, he said, was warned of the fire truck's approach by a negro who ran upon the car tracks signaling him to stop. According to Davis' report, however, Cocoran contended he didn't see the apparatus until it was too late to stop and he then preferred to be hit by the truck rather than hit it with the car because "these cars are like pasteboard."

Whalen, who obtained the warrant for Cocoran's arrest, said he would continue to ask for arrests in all such cases, declaring motormen pay too little heed to fire bells and that three firemen had been injured and three fire rigs put out of commission in the last year in accidents due to negligence of street car men.

The controversy began last January, when Chief Whalen refused to break fire lines to permit street cars to pass. Relations had been strained two months earlier, however, as a result of the revocation of street car passes issued to firemen.

Company Overlooked $25 Docketing Fee—Earliest Possible Hearing Next Fall.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Failure of counsel for the City of St. Louis and the Wabash Railway to send a docketing fee of $25 with the records of the city's and railway company's suit against the Missouri Public Service Commission regarding elimination of the Wabash grade crossing at Delmar boulevard, has prevented the records from being filed in the United States Supreme Court, it was learned today.

The case has been appealed from the Missouri Supreme Court. It was said at the clerk's office here that the payment of a docketing fee was a mere formality which may be overlooked by the counsel.

Unless a motion is made to advance the case after the docketing fee has been paid it will take its place in the regular order of business of the Supreme Court and will not be acted upon for a year or 18 months. If an order for advancement is obtained it could be heard next fall.

N. S. Brown, vice president and general solicitor of the Wabash Railway, said the docketing fee had been attended to. The city expects to ask that the case be advanced on the docket, for speedy determination, ending the years of delay in contention over the Delmar boulevard grade crossing.

Zandonai as Master Composer.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

ROME, March 26.—Who is to be the new Puccini? At present the composer most in view is Riccardo Zandonai, whose early opera, "Conchita," as well as his "Francesca da Rimini," have been performed in America. His latest work, "Knights of Ekeby," from a story by Selma Lagerlof, has just been produced with great success at the Scala in Milan and at the Costanzi in Rome. Some critics speak of Zandonai as Puccini's predestined successor. Others feel that after the brilliant originality of his earlier works he has lost his artistic conscience by grasping too eagerly at popularity, and sold his birthright for a mess of sentimental tunes.

New Methodist Home Site.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CENTRALIA, Ill., April 14.—Lawrenceville was selected here late yesterday by the Home and Hospital Board of the Southern Illinois Methodist Conference as the site for the new Methodist Home for the aged which will be removed from its present location at St. Francisville, Ill.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

That's one outstanding fact everybody should know. And if everybody did know it, the number of Pyorrhea's victims would soon be greatly reduced.

You may take splendid care of your teeth—brush them several times a day—and still get Pyorrhea. Once Pyorrhea secures a firm hold, pus pockets form, gums become weak and flabby, the teeth loosen and fall out no matter how white and sound they may be.

Forhan's means healthy gums

It contains the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent, as used by the dental profession in the treatment of Pyorrhea. Forhan's protects and preserves the gums, keeping them in a firm, pink, healthy condition, cleans and whitens the teeth, and keeps the mouth sweet, fresh and wholesome. If you don't care to discontinue the tooth paste you are now using, at least brush your teeth and gums once a day with Forhan's. Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Just My Age

My aids to youth, which made the difference, are at your command
By Edna Wallace Hopper

The lady whose photograph I print with mine is about my age. But I had the advantage of scientific aids.

From an early girlhood I have searched the world to get them. I spent in all nine years in France. Those helps made me a famous beauty. Now, at this lady's age, I retain my contours, my complexion. My hair is as fine and colorful as 40 years ago. I look like a girl, and live and play a girlish part today.

Now I offer those same helps to all who wish to use them. Toilet counters everywhere supply them. And any girl or woman who asks me will receive a trial free. They form, I believe, the greatest beauty aids in existence.

My Youth Cream

Is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytime as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do. The cost is 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes.

My Facial Youth

Is a liquid cleanser I owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the erude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights; reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. While Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair, dandruff or a touch of gray.

A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp to tone and stimulate. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

My Face Powders

They are supreme creations. No face powders you have used can compare. Mine are exquisite. They come in two types. One a heavy, clinging cold cream powder, in square box, $1. I like that best. The other is light and fluffy, in round box, 50c.

All toilet counters supply my beauty helps. Send the coupon and I will mail you a sample of any one you choose. Also my Beauty Book.

CONFINED TO BED FOR MONTHS

Back Hurt So Could Not Raise Up Without Help; Says Herb Juice Gave Relief

Your Herb Juice has simply made a new woman out of me, and I could not be without it for $1.00, said Mrs. Maude Bousquet of 701 Sheridan avenue, Detroit.

MRS. MAUDE BOUSQUET,

who is well known there, having been a resident of that city for the past 22 years.

Before I began using Herb Juice, continued Mrs. Bousquet, I was in such a terrible condition, brought on by years of suffering, with stomach and kidney trouble, that I thought I would never be well again. For months at a time I would be confined to bed and my back hurt so I could not raise myself up without some one helping me, and I was so laxative constipated that the strongest kind of laxative would not have any effect. Eating was out of the question, as my food would not digest—just lay in the stomach and ferment, causing gas to form, from which I would swell so that I could hardly stand my clothes around me.

But, as had as I was, your Herb Juice seemed to be just the thing for me, and before I had finished up my first bottle I felt a lot better.
Bowels acted regular, and I did not swell and bloated with gas after eating. I continued taking HERB JUICE regularly, and today I feel like a new woman. Stomach is in fine shape and I have been relieved of those terrible pains across my back. I get up feeling fresh in the morning; can go in town shopping,
then come home and do my housework without minding it one bit; as I said before, HERB JUICE has simply done wonders for me, and I would not be without it for a thousand dollars.

The Herb Juice man has established headquarters at Judge & Dolph Drug Co., 514 Washington avenue, where he will meet the local public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Sea Passengers Taxed.

RANGOON.—The Burma Legislative Council has passed the Burma tax on sea passengers bill. This measure imposes a tax of 5 rupees (64 cts) on every passenger entering Burma by sea, and has been hotly contested by the Hindu community on the ground that its real object is to exclude Indian laborers from Burma and by the commercial community on the ground that it will tend to restrict the supply of labor, which is already insufficient for the mills, factories, railways and public works. It is very significant that no organized opposition was offered today to the passing of this bill, and the hope is expressed in certain quarters that the bill will be disallowed by the Government of India.

RIVER BARGE TONNAGE
STILL CONTINUES HIGH

Amount in March Only 2000
Tons Less Than Record
Made in February.

The greatest monthly tonnage
the Federal barge line on the Mississippi River ever carried was in February, and the March tonnage, though lower, still was 2000 tons above the previous high record of J. P. Higgins, operating manager of the Mississippi line, announced today.

The previous record, for June, 1923, was $1,208 tons. March's tonnage is estimated at $8,000, as compared to 74,117 tons in March of last year. February's was 95-84 tons, as compared to 80,225 for February, 1924. Together the increase for the two months over the same two months last year was 29,372 tons.

This freight is carried at rates approximating a 20 per cent saving to the shipper over prevailing railroad rates. That saving on this amount could not be given, since revenue statements are given out only at Washington, but it would amount to many thousand dollars. It is inferred, also, that the higher tonnage was carried at less cost to the Government, since the line has less equipment to operate, although the less, pending a court decision, of the Goltra fleet may cramp the line in disposing of freight offered.

The unprecedented tonnage indicates, rather than a phenomenal activity in any one commodity, a strong tide in all. The increase consists of the staples of wheat, downstream and aluminum one upstream, with a heavy season upstream traffic in sugar, a rising traffic in coffee and in virtually every commodity handled by the line.

WORK ANIMALS AND PETS

TO COMPETE FOR AWARDS

Forty Teams and Wagons Are Entered for Humane Society's Parade Saturday.

A quaint array of domesticated teams and pet animals competing for prizes on the basis of unusual characteristics will be on public view Saturday when the Humane Society's combination parade of work horses and pet animals makes its way through the streets and lines up for judges' inspection on the circus grounds at Vandeventer avenue and West Pine boulevard.

The participants will assemble with their entries on Fourteenth street between Clark avenue and Market street at 2 p. m. and the parade will proceed west on Chestnut street, Lawton boulevard and West Pine to the grounds.

Besides some 40 entries of teams and wagons, numerous classifications of small animals will take part in the contest. Prizes are offered under the following heads:
Most unusual pet, best goat, best goat, best pony mount, best decorated pony and cart, most attractive float, largest dog, smallest dog, best yellow dog, best dog belonging to a policeman's child, best dog belonging to a fireman's child, whitest dog, blackest dog,
most homely dog, best spotted dog, dog with the longest tail, longest ears, longest nose, longest hair and dogs with the shortest tail, shortest ears, nose and hair.

In the "unusual pet" class, entries already received include a Belgian hare, a large white pigeon and a gold fish.

night when three armed robbers held them up.

The robbers commanded the clerk to open the safe, and when he declared he did not know the combination they took all the money in the cash register, $1, and $69 from Charles F. Hoy and Elison A. Proulx, two of the three men. Before the third man was searched, the robbers became frightened and ran away. As they left one of them fired a shot into the ceiling, presumably to discourage pursuit.

What Tariff Tinkering May Mean To You

At the Washington meeting of the National Cotton Manufacturers' Association, which was addressed by President Coolidge, the president of that association stated that "fine goods" manufacturers have a just complaint as to the present tariff," and another spokesman for the cotton manufacturers told the newspapermen that "unless we have adequate tariff protection on fine goods we must cut wages further, and we have today the lowest wage-scale of any industry in the United States."

But if certain forces are gathering to do battle for higher tariff rates, others are rallying around the banner of tariff reduction.

THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, the April 18th number, in its leading newsfeature presents all viewpoints of the proposed movements to tinker with the tariff, outlines the benefits and inequalities of the present tariff schedules, shows President Coolidge's attitude, and gives the gist of public opinion, as presented in the American press, upon the entire subject.

MEAT PLANTS HERE PROPOSE AN INSPECTION PLAN

Owners of Slaughtering Houses Willing to Pay for Examination of Animals Killed.

Owners of St. Louis slaughtering plants, not under Federal inspection, have offered to provide for a system of examination of animals slaughtered at their establishments, the inspection to be at the cost of the plants, but under the supervision of the Health Commissioner.

Health Commissioner Starkloff tells of this offer in his annual report today. A conference will be held soon, he said, to determine whether the plan is feasible. If so, he states, it will solve the question of proper inspection of animals killed in these plants.

The Post-Dispatch, by a recent investigation, showed that of 57 slaughtering plants in St. Louis, 50 were not inspected by the Federal Government. The number is now 49, Commissioner Starkloff says. Federal inspection applies only to plants which do an interstate business.

Facilities Now Inadequate. Speaking of the plants not under Federal inspection, and of the city's inspection facilities, Commissioner Starkloff says:

"With but four inspectors, a ridiculously small number for a city of this size, only a formal inspection of meat already slaughtered and placed on the market, is possible.

"While the plants as a whole are modern and operated in a sanitary manner, proper safeguarding against the marketing of diseased meat is lacking. I do not desire to create the impression that there is a large amount of diseased meat sold. Their management would not knowingly place diseased meat on the market, but this industry should be supervised in the most possible manner. Under existing conditions, it is not possible to control the output, as these slaughter houses are located at widely different points."

He then tells of the offer of the owners to provide for a system of inspection.

Death and Birth Rates. The death rate for the calendar year 1924 is shown in the report as 13.5 per 1000 population, the same rate as in 1923. The birth rate is shown as 21 per 1000, an increase over the previous year's rate of 18.9. However, while the death rate shows all deaths, the birth rate does not show all births, and an increase may mean births, that the law requiring births to be reported was more generally observed. Speaking of these requirements that physicians and nurses make such reports, the commissioner says, "If better co-operation is not had, it will be necessary to prosecute those who fail to comply with the law."

Infant Mortality Rate. The infant mortality rate last year was 66 per 1000 of children born. This, the report states, is the lowest infant mortality rate among cities in the United States having the population of St. Louis, or a greater population.

The year's list of causes of death shows a decrease from 1923 in the number of deaths from tuberculosis, typhoid fever, pneumonia, Bright's disease, measles and whooping cough, and increases in the number of deaths from scarlet fever, diphtheria, cancer and heart disease.

Deaths by Motor Vehicles in 1924 were 187, a larger number than in any previous year. Suicides were 157, a smaller number than in any year since 1920. Other violent deaths numbered 538, or 59 more than in 1923.

Would Reorganize Division. Commissioner Starkloff recommends a reorganization of the Health Division, which is under the Department of Public Welfare. He proposes that three bureaus be established, one of Food Inspection with a chief inspector and assistant at $4000 and $3000 a year; one of Child Hygiene, to which child welfare activities now carried on by the Hospital Division would be transferred; and one of Municipal Nursing with a similar transfer from the Hospital Division. He proposes also that the position of Epidemiologist be created at $4000 a year, to be assistant chief of the Preventable Disease Bureau. Creation of the post of Statistician to the Health Division, at $3000 a year, is also advocated.

The Commissioner says that the Health Division now costs the city $5 cents a year per capita, and that this cost should be increased to 12 cents per capita.

Business Increased 500 Per Cent In Two Years

A COMPANY in a middle western city operated along ordinary lines for ten years. It grew slowly, but its chief owners were satisfied. Then came keener competition. Sales fell off. Assets decreased. Something had to be done. The vice-president of this company (name on application) said "Let's advertise—let's modernize our sales promotion efforts." Finally, he got that policy through. During the next two years, sales increased 500 per cent. Profits and assets increased. In usable detail, this vice-president told the whole story at an Advertising Convention. There will be much such grist for your mill at the

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL CONVENTION (21st Birthday Party) of the ASSOCIATED ADVERTISING CLUBS of the WORLD Houston, Texas, May 9 to 14

Membership in the Association is not essential to attendance. The great general and special sessions and a world exhibit of successful advertising methods—will be open to you. Thousands of successful advertising men and women will be there. Following the Convention, go with us on a Tour of Texas—pleasant and instructive. It is a great chance to know an important part of America better.

The coupon below will tell you more about the Convention; hotels, special railroad rates, etc.

Convention Headquarters,
Associated Advertising Clubs,

WOMEN PACIFISTS IMPERIL THE NATION

Admiral Fisk, Retired, Upholds Preparedness as War Insurance.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 16.—Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fisk, retired, advocate of big armies and navies,
has told women that "requirements of their sex seemed to be the bottom causes of war, and that women seeking to outlaw war 'imperilled national security.'"

The speech was made last night at Hotel Bossert, Brooklyn, before the Brooklyn chapter of the National Society of New England Women.

The tone of Rear Admiral Fisk's speech was that since, with a few "minor exception," men had brought into being "virtually all the elements which constitute civilization," women should leave to men to preserve that civilization.

Discusses War.

Other remarks were to the effect that armies and navies must be maintained because they never cause war and because "there would be war without them," that the world dwells in the shadow of war and will stay there until its mode of living is "lowered" to a simple state; that it may be that the Almighty produces a succession of peace times and war times purposely, that war as well as peace activities "brought forth civilization;" that belief that because fighting can be prevented in the streets it can be prevented among nations "will not stand analysis."

"Men with healthy nerves" are the nation's security, he said. While not mentioning them in his talk, he said prior to it that the women's groups he referred to were such as the Women's Peace Union, which has lobbied for legislation outlawing war.

Admiral Fiske prefaced his remarks with an analysis of masculinity and femininity in which he said men generally were characterized by strength and women by grace. Women, he said, cannot stand the rough usage men stand, though this "does not mean women are inferior." In the work of the two sexes, neither is superior, he added.

Refers to Pacifist Groups.

Referring to women's pacifist groups, he continued: "Their avowed object is to promote the cause of peace. This object, of course, is laudable, but the means by which they are endeavoring to promote peace are far from practical, because they start under the false premise that preparing for war tends to cause war. Their main idea is to obstruct all efforts toward preparedness. Therefore, their main effect is to imperil the national security."

After saying that men "with healthy nerves" realized the need for preparedness for war, he switched back to the women:

"Women pacifists assert that preparedness tends to cause war, but the evidence is against them. In the first place, history clearly shows that the main cause of war among nations has been a desire by one side or the other to get something the other had and a desire by the other side to prevent
it. To accomplish these ends they organized armies and later navies.
"Please realize that armies and navies were mere instruments, used by the nations to accomplish the purpose in view. Please realize also that armies and navies never cause war. Wars have been caused by the nations themselves. Armies and navies do what the nations tell them; they are their servants. If there were no armies and navies
there nevertheless would be war;
that is, if there were any nations."

90-DAY STAY FOR MURDERER

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16.—
Gov. Small this morning granted Russell Scott a 90-day reprieve to save him from hanging tomorrow.
Scott's lawyers had no sooner reached the executive office when the announcement was made. The Governor had indicated yesterday that he would not interfere if the Supreme Court acted. When today's session of the Supreme Court passed, it was unofficially announced the petition for a writ of superseas was too long for proper examination in so short a time so the Governor granted the stay.
Scott, former Ontario promoter, was found guilty of the murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk, during a holdup.

NOW YOU CAN MOTHPROOF THE CLOTH ITSELF

Doris—"Isn't it simply terrific trying to find a place to pack sweaters and things where moths won't eat them?" Jane—"You can make your knitted things absolutely mothproof with Larvex and pack them anywhere."

You've heard of fireproofing! And water- proofing! Now comes mothproofing with Larvex!

LARVEX, sprayed on anything woolen, makes it absolutely moth-proof. No further protection is necessary. You don't have the bother of wrapping and packing things away.
Your winter clothes are safe in the closet. Your rugs on the floor. Your blankets in the linen closet. No moth-worm will eat them.

Larvex is a new liquid—a great discovery. When sprayed, it penetrates the wool fibres and becomes a part of the cloth itself.

Many of America's leading textile manufacturers are using Larvex so that their products will be mothproof when you buy them. Moth-worms will never eat cloth which has been sprayed with Larvex. The moth itself eats nothing.
It is harmless. Forget it! It is the worms hatched from the eggs laid by the moth that do the damage. And they eat all year round. Larvex gives your woolen things absolute protection from these worms.

Larvex is as odorless as water. It is stainless and colorless. It won't burn or explode. It is non-injurious. Use it anywhere—except on furs. Larvex is easy to use. Simply insert the Larvex Atomizer in bottle of Larvex. Pump it up and down with one finger. This throws a powerful spray that moth-proofs every woolen thing it touches.

Larvex with new type atomizer costs
$1.50. Once you have the atomizer, buy Larvex only at $1.00. Get a bottle today—this is the season for moths.
At drug, department and furniture stores. Get Larvex today.

The Larvex Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE new-type Larvex Atomizer is a mechanical masterpiece. It is as near perfection as any piece of machinery ever designed by man. It makes the spraying of Larvex an exceptionally easy and thorough job. Never use

Don't Let
High Blood Pressure
Shorten Your Life

How to Stop It—Read This

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life.

High blood pressure gives little warning and until certain symptoms take hold, you do not know it. They are: head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and nervousness.

Only a purely vegetable medicine like Norma that drives out the waste matter which clogs the system and forces the heart to do extra work can reduce high blood pressure. Often one bottle of Norma will bring reduction enough to stop the symptoms which distress and worry you.

Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that itchy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" the blood and "work up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

DECLARES AMERICA IS UNGRATEFUL TO HIM

"Fine-Reward" Says Shell-Shocked Veteran, Held for Raising $9 Check to $500

Only an ungrateful republic would hold him to account for altering a Government money order, Walter O. Bacon, 28-year-old shell-shocked war veteran, exclaimed yesterday when postoffice inspectors caused his arrest at the North Side Y. M. C. A., where he had a room. The money order was only raised from $9 to $500, the former soldier pointed out—and his arrest "a fine reward" for one who had served his country throughout the World War, indignantly pointing to the "Trois de Guerre" he said.

But the inspectors, recalling Walter's arrest in Nashville, Ill., last Christmas, in company with an attractive new roadster automobile, which a St. Louis dealer had given him in exchange for a worthless check, took a different view of the matter and swore out a warrant. In lieu of $1000 bail the former soldier spent the night in jail.

Bacon returned the automobile to the dealer, with apologies and explanation that he had been shell-shocked. Prosecution was dropped and the veteran was sent to the Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks. He was discharged March 19.

Tuesday a North Side merchant complained that he had sold $50 worth of clothing to a man answering Bacon's description, giving $10 change with the balance to be paid later, and receiving therefor a postoffice order for $90, which appeared to have been altered. Investigation disclosed the order was obtained April 6 from a branch postoffice at Boyle and Olive streets, being made payable to Ralph Baldwin by Armand Durant in the sum of $9.

An examination of his effects in Bacon's room revealed three checks made payable to "cash," in the sum of $55. Bacon admitted to Inspector Goshay that he had drawn the checks with the intent of cashing them, though he had no fun in any bank. Inspectors say his check-writing proclivities are known to authorities in Kansas and California, Bacon claims. New York City as his home.

AUTOPSY FAILS TO SOLVE
DEATH OF TWO YOUTHS

Brothers, Aged 5 and 2, Died After Eating Ice Cream, According to Parents.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16.—Dr. Paul F. Robinson, Marion County Coroner, having received a report that no trace of bacteria that could have caused death had been found in the stomach of 5-year-old Alvin Arthur Loudon, today started a new investigation of the deaths of the boy and his 2-year-old brother, Kenneth Raymond Loudon.

The youngsters became ill April 15, soon after eating ice cream cones purchased from a street peddler, according to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Loudon. Kenneth died last Sunday and Alvin died the following day. Dr. Robinson has ascertained that two other children who ate cones purchased from the same peddler, were made ill, but that several others had suffered no ill effects.

ROBBER, HE TELLS POLICE

Jack Gorman, With Broken Wrist, Asks to Be Sent to Hospital.

Jack Gorman, 29 years old, a chauffeur, of 2519 Olive street, went to the Laclede Avenue Police Station at 4:15 a. m. today and asked to be sent to city hospital. He was suffering from a scalp wound and a fractured right wrist.

He told the police his wrist was broken in a fight with a negro highwayman who attempted to hold him up on Olive street between Compton and Leonard avenues. The negro slugged him with a revolver, inflicting the scalp wound, he said.

But the inspectors, recalling Walter's arrest in Nashville, Ill., last Christmas, in company with an attractive new roadster automobile, which a St. Louis dealer had given him in exchange for a worthless check, took a different view of the matter and swore out a warrant. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16.—Dr. Paul F. Robinson, Marion County Coroner, having received a report that no trace of bacteria that could have caused death had been found in the stomach of 5-year-old Alvin Arthur Loudon, today started a new investigation of the deaths of the boy and his 2-year-old brother, Kenneth Raymond Loudon.

The youngsters became ill April 15, soon after eating ice cream cones purchased from a street peddler, according to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Loudon. Kenneth died last Sunday and Alvin died the following day. SHOP GIRL BENEFITS IN WILL Customer Leaves, Courteous Employee $450 Annuity.

LONDON, April 1.—Politess shop girls received a stimulus recently when it was announced that Miss Susan Plonies of Hornsey, who died some weeks ago, had willed an annuity of $450 to Miss Kate Wenham, an employee of an Oxford street department store. "In recognition of many courtesies received at her hands," Miss Wenham had waited upon Miss Plonies in the store during the last 10 years, but had no idea that her customer was wealthy.

RECORD TRAVEL TO PALESTINE

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
JERUSALEM, March 17.—During the 1934 calendar year, 76,437 travelers and returning residents, including immigrants, entered Palestine according to a report in the March issue of the Government bulletin of the Palestine Government. This figure, it is added, surpasses those of previous years.

The number of immigrants, the overwhelming majority of whom were Jewish, was more than 13,000 in 1934.

U. S. Applies First Choice in Europe
BERLIN, March 30.—American apples are given first choice by the retail consumers of Europe, according to the Berlin bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, which has investigated the subject. Fruit dealers declare that American apples taste better, have more character and can be kept longer than any other kind on the market.

When supper was brought to the belles of the ball in old Tennessee

THEY like to tell you about it down South—that stately, old ball room where gallants made their bows years ago and beauties smiled above their fans. Long before the days of country clubs and jazz, the youth of Dixie danced and supped at the Maxwell House of Nashville.

There the old-time southern belles danced the steps our grandmothers knew. And there they paused for supper—such suppers as are remembered and described in the South to this day.

It was the food at the Maxwell House, and above all the coffee, that was talked of most widely in that land of "mammy" cooks and beaten biscuits.

Steadily the fame of the Maxwell House grew

Only one kind of coffee was served at the Maxwell House—a special blend so rich and mellow that those who once tasted it, remembered it long afterward.

Year after year distinguished men and women from all parts of the country came to this fine, old hotel for the great balls, or to pass pleasant days under its roof. The fame of the Maxwell House and of its coffee was spread far and wide.
In distant cities the families who enjoy the best things of life have heard of this wonderful blend and have secured it for their own tables.

And the same man who perfected it years ago, Joel Cheek himself, still supervises with his associates the blending and roasting of it today. The same coffee that delighted the guests of the old Maxwell House, is now on sale in sealed tins at better grocery stores.

Give your own family this rare flavor and rich aroma at breakfast tomorrow. Ask your grocer today for one of the blue tins of Maxwell House Coffee.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

J. L. B.—A legal mile of the United States is 5280 feet; a nautical mile is 6080.27 feet.

ANNIUS.—Absolute (pure) alcohol results freezing at 148 degrees below zero. It can be frozen.

J. T.—The Jewellers use a strong solution of ammonia as hot as it can be handled, to clean the diamond rings. Use an old toothbrush or splinter of a soft match to gently remove any dirt from the sides of the diamond. This should be done very gently in order not to loosen the setting.

READER.—Heat and light are caused by vibrations or undulations in the ether. This ether is supposed to be a substance extending throughout all space. Any heat or light sources, such as the stars (which are really suns) of space will produce light and heat in their own vicinity. Beyond our atmosphere there is light in the direct rays of the sun, but the darkness outside of direct beams.

M. B. H.—The pure diamond is generally colorless, but it is sometimes tinged with pink, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, brown or black. Blue, red and green are exceedingly rare colors. Carbon is a diamond, but the structure of an opaque, black granular or imperfectly crystallized variety of diamond found only in Brazil, is harder than the pure diamond, and hence it is used in the steel drills for boring.

P. M.—The Order of De Molay was organized in Kansas City, April 1, 1919, by Frank S. Land, president of the social service and employment bureau at the Scotch Rite temple. Since that time the movement has spread from coast to coast and to several foreign countries. De Molay is an order for young men between the ages of 18 and 21. It is sponsored by the Masonic Lodge. The order is based on the closing of the Knights Templar, burned at the stake in 1312 by Philip the Fair, King of France.

H. G.—The dead letter office is in Washington, D. C. Branches are maintained at New York, Chicago and San Francisco. There is no undeliverable matter, not returnable to sender. Valuable third-class matter, which cannot be delivered or returned to sender, is forwarded to the service division in which the office of address is located. There are 15 of these divisions with headquarters at the following cities: Boston, New York, Washington, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, St. Paul, Portland, Omaha and Pittsburgh.

ENQUIRE.—The days of the week derive their names from ancient idolatry. In olden times each god was worshipped on a certain day. The sun became a deity because of the impression its glorious light and warmth made upon man. Thus the day set aside to worship the sun came to be known as "Sunday." The second day of the week, Monday, also goes back to ancient heathen beliefs, for the worship of the moon, "Monday" comes from the old German word monadaze, in turn a translation of the Latin lunae dies. The root of the word is "luna," the Latin for the moon. Tuesday, was dedicated to the worship of the god of war. The Anglo-Saxon name for Tuesday was "Tiwes daeg." The "tiw" is a soft, and the word sounds like "Tuesday." Wednesday was sacred to the god of the Scandinavians. He is identified with the Roman god Mercury and the Greek god Hermes. Odysseus was the god of wisdom. Poetry was as well as the god of the dead and a god of agriculture. He was represented as a man with a hat and staff, and with an eagle. Thor, the Scandinavian god who thundered, was identified with the Roman god Jupiter. Thursday its name, Thor was described as a vigorous youth, with long hair and beard, who rode through the heavens in a goat-drawn chariot, and he of the returned after being thrown. Friday also derives its name from the old Norse word "Frigg," the goddess of marriage, was Frigg's wife. Her word comes from frige, meaning love day. The goddess Freya, according to legend, was the goddess of domestic life and held over man's domestic life and held dominion in heaven and over the whole of the earth. The father of Jupiter, was dedicated the last day of the week, Saturday. Saturn was identified with the Greek god Cronus, and, like him, was fabled to have been king during an ancient golden age.

TO DEMAND INQUIRY ON SALT CREEK OIL

Walsh Will Ask Senate to Find
How Midwest Company Gained Field.

By the Associated Press.
GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 15.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, will "press for a Senate investigation" of how the Midwest Refining Co. gained alleged domination over the Salt Creek oil field in Wyoming by acquiring leases from the Department of the Interior, he announced here last night.

Senator Walsh, who is here as the chief defender of his colleague, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, in the case which went to trial in Federal court today, said he would urge adoption of an investigation resolution in the Senate immediately after it convenes in December.

The Midwest Refining Co. acquired many of its leases and claims in the Salt Creek field, while H. M. Blackmer, who now is abroad, was head of its board of directors, according to Senator Walsh. Several of these were granted, he said, during the administration of Albert B. Fall as Secretary of the Interior.

The testimony of Blackmer was sought in the recent Teapot Dome trial at Cheyenne, Wyo., but Government counsel in the case charged he had moved to Paris beyond the jurisdiction of the Wyoming court.

Wanted as U. S. Witness.
Blackmer was wanted as a Government witness to tell what he knew about the Continental Trading Co. of Toronto and its connection between Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall. The Government alleged Blackmer was one of those responsible for the organizing of the trading company and that Fall received from it $230,000 worth of Liberty bonds, which originally came from Sinclair. During the Cheyenne trial, George P. Hoover of Washington, one of Sinclair's attorneys, declared in an argument before the court that the Government was on the wrong track when it sought to prove that there was a financial connection between Sinclair, the trading company and Fall.

He declared that Blackmer was the broker in the case and that the transactions as between the trading company and the Sinclair crude oil purchasing company, and the Prairie Oil and Gasoline Co. was "perfectly legitimate."

Cites Regulation.
Senator Walsh said his request would be a renewal of one previously made in the Senate for an inquiry into the leasing of the Salt Creek field. One of the questions to be determined, he said, will be whether the regulations governing the granting of oil leases were carried out.

These regulations, he said, allowed not more than one lease in any one structure to a single person or firm, and but three to any persons or firm in any one state. Another provision under which oil leases were granted, Senator Walsh said, allowed holders of placer mining claims to exchange these for oil leases. The placer claims were granted many years before the oil leases were made available, and there was no limit to the number of placer holdings one person might have, according to Walsh. Since the regulations permitted the exchange of a placer claim for an oil lease, the ruling limiting the latter was subverted, he said. He also said the majority of oil claims granted to the Midwest were in exchange for placer claims turned in by that company.

COLLEGE MEN OFFER BLOOD

150 Michigan U. Students Pay Part Expenses by Transfusions.

By the Associated Press.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 15.—One hundred and fifty University of Michigan students are giving their blood in transfusions to help pay their way through college. Dr. John L. Garvey, chief resident physician of the University Hospital, says:

The student blood donors are subject to call night or day, being summoned from classroom, theater or from sleep, as the emergency requires. Payment is made on the basis of $15 for 30 cubic centimeters or less. For amounts over this, the donor gets $5 for each additional 100 cubic centimeters.

Counter Suit Against Actor.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., April 15.—Attorneys representing H. A. Devaux, vice president of the Cosmic Production Corporation, instituted a counter attack yesterday against Harry J. Tighe, former president of the concern, and Bryant Washburn, cinema star, by filing suits for damages totaling $100,000 against them in District Court. The suits are the outgrowth of alleged slanderous remarks made by Tighe and Devaux shortly after a number of screen stars, making a country tour, were arrested here and later released in connection with difficulties growing out of an unpaid hotel bill at Omaha.

MOVIE OF A MAN CROSSING THE STREET

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Sam

THE PASSING SHOW.

THE banquet tendered Mayor Kiel was a most prodigious meal. Likewise a feat of reason. A flock of people honored by With flights of oratory. And he went out enveloped by The well-known blaze of glory. To private life he's going soon Which seems to be a pity: He swung a wicked fork and spoon With credit to our city. He seemed to be immune to pain. Though off a trifle pallid. And never cracked beneath the strain Of ice cream, cake and salad. Babe Ruth is still a trifle ill With flu or maybe colic; And therefore couldn't slam the pill In the initial frolic. The deadly hot-dog, we are told, Caused Babe's indisposition. And when he shuns them hot or cold He'll keep in good condition.

QUITE SO.

See where the secrecy of liquor prescriptions has been upheld by the Cole County Circuit Court. Business of sighing with relief.

If a man wants to cure himself with a hair of the dog that bit him it's nobody's business but his own.

Former Gov. Hyde has been awarded the Outdoor Life Medal. Does that mean that Arthur gets the air for life?

"Too many 'hot dogs' is said to be the cause of Babe Ruth's illness. No wonder he had those gnawing pains.

The reported split between Jack Dempsey and his manager has been exaggerated. Jack says that in the future the split will be 65-35 instead of 50-50.

See where 572 automobile drivers were arrested. They were trying to see how many miles they could get out of a 1924 license.

Big Chief Bear, Ribs denies that he paid $65 for a new Easter suit. He merely had his feathers renovated and let it go at that.

Baedecker, guide, philosopher and friend, is dead. His life was devoted to the publishing of books showing us the way we should go.

The man on the sandbox says the blanket ballot box covers a multitude of errors.

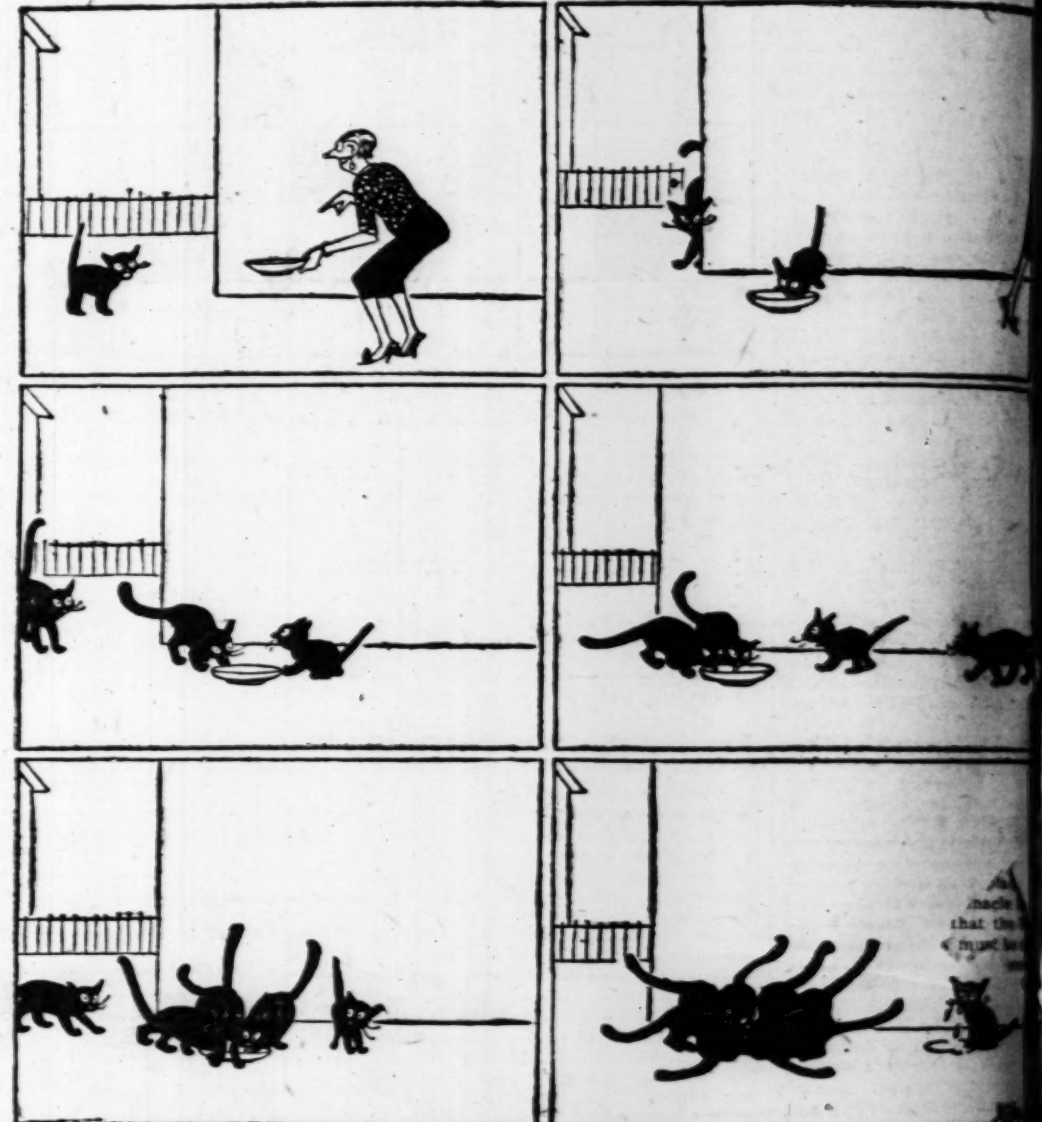

If the intent of the voter should be taken all we need is a few expert mind readers to make it work out beautifully.

It is said that some of the city committeemen are anxious about their jobs. It seems they picked the wrong horse in the primary derby.

REORGANIZATION OF ASSESSOR'S OFFICE PLANNED BY MAYOR-ELECT

Miller's Aim Is More Equitable Assessments and Higher Showing of Taxable Property.

$18,000,000 CITY BUDGET PRESENTED

Deficit of $500,000 for Last Year Shown by Figures of Comptroller Nolte.

Mayor-elect Miller, meeting today with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to consider the city budget for 1925-26, declared that he would try to bring about a reorganization of the City Assessor's office, with a view to obtaining more equitable assessments and a higher total showing of taxable property.

He asked the members of the board, Mayor Kiel, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, as well as Deputy Comptroller Gunn, who was present for their advice as to methods of getting better results in the Assessor's office. He also asked for their advice as to the appointment of an Assessor, this being one of the principal offices which he will have to fill after he is inaugurated next Tuesday.

Applicants for Place. Fred Gehner and George Dietz, now Deputy Assessors, and Louis Wellbrinck, former Assessor, are known to be applicants for the appointment. All were Miller supporters in the primary last month.

Miller's plan is to reorganize the Assessor's office, and to have a meeting in his office next Thursday.

Miller spoke of the Police Department item of $5,024,000 in the budget, saying he believed considerable money could be saved in the Police Department. He said men were being used in checking up violators of the one-hour parking law downtown, and remarked that this was almost a waste of the men's time, as he does not consider the law enforceable.

A man must watch a car for an hour, he said, to make a case, as he charged the owner may say he took it away and brought it back. The Comptroller reminded Miller that the Board of Estimate is obliged to give the Police Board what it asks. Miller will be a member of the Police Board after he becomes Mayor.

The Mayor-elect was present by invitation at today's meeting in the Mayor's office. The tentative budget, presented by Comptroller Nolte, showed an estimated total of $18,385,708.46 revenue and expenditures for 1925-26, and showed a deficit of $500,000 for 1924-25.

The $500,000 deficit is attributed by the Comptroller to two cuts in municipal revenue receipts, which were not foreseen when the budget was made up a year ago. The larger of these came through the refusal of national banks to pay the city and State taxes assessed on their stock. The banks filed suit in Federal Court to enjoin the collection of the taxes, which amounted to more than $750,000, with the city's share about $400,000.

The other reduction, amounting to about $100,000, came through the resistance of the International Harvester Co. to collection of license taxes on the sale of goods manufactured outside St. Louis. Both these matters are still in court and the city may win either or both.

The Comptroller's report showed the total collections for municipal revenue in 1924-25 as $17,715,000. He estimates an increase of about $7,450,000 in the total of assessed valuations for the coming year, and he further figures on an increase of 8 cents in the tax rate on municipal purposes. This higher rate on a larger assessment would add $951,000 to the past year's figures. He estimates that service transfers, or reversions of unused funds, will add another $200,000. Adding these, and deducting the $500,000 deficit, the Comptroller finds the total available for the coming year to be $18,385,708.46.

The increase of 8 cents on the valuation, for municipal purposes, would raise the tax rate for the coming year to be $18,385,708.46.
